Cracks 'Bugging' Ring Of Czechs

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is spying for the Communists worthwhile?

"It is certainly not," in the opinion of the American double agent who got $3,440 for more than four years' espionage for the Czechs that was climaxed by a futile move to "bug" key offices in the State Department building.

The American, Frank J. Mrkva (prounced meerk' va), worked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the State Department said Wednesday as it revealed details of the strange cloak and dagger case.

ALTHOUGH many secret listening devices have been uncovered in U.S. embassies in Communist capitals, this was the first time State Department authorities could recall an announced discovery of a Communist eavesdropping attempt right in their own headquarters.

The Czechs asked Mrkva at first to plant a tiny microphone transmitter in the office of the director of Eastern European affairs, but they aimed for bigger game later—including tuning in on the talks of Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The result of Korean War veteran Mrkva's super sleuthing: One Czech diplomat, Jiri Opatrny (pronounced yi'ri opot'rini), a Czech Embassy attache here, has been ordered out of the country. A second, Zdenek Pisk, is being allowed to stay in the United States at this time only because he is now with the Czech mission to the United Nations at New York, which puts him in a different diplomatic category.

U.S. SOURCES at the United Nations said Wednesday that Pisk would not be expelled from this country because he "has done nothing to violate the U.N. headquarters agreement."

As for Mrkva, 38, the 6-foot-2 trim brown-haired Beaver Falls, Pa., native and father of three is getting an honor award and a spot promotion boosting his salary from $9,267 to $10,987 a year.

At a State Devartment news conference Wednesday and in a later interview, Mrkva said it all began back in 1961 when he was a passport office employe whose duties included taking official passports to embassies around Washington for visas.

Mrkva's parents came from Czechoslovakia. He speaks Czech and still has relatives in the Iron Curtain country. Eventually, Pisk began inviting him to social functions at the embassy.

Mrkva was under standing instructions to report to his superiors if any of the embassies tried to cultivate him. He did so—and he and his wife went on to receptions at the Czech mission.

PISK MADE the first open bid to enlist Mrkva as a spy during dinner at a Washington restaurant Nov. 30, 1961. From then on the plot—as related by Mrkva—thickened.

From November 1961 through July 6, 1966, Mrkva met Pisk and Opatrny 48 times—on park benches in Northwest Washington, in the Maryland suburbs, in front of theaters, at a suburban Virginia shopping center.

After 11 sessions with Pisk, Opatrny took over. Pisk went back to Czechoslovakia in May 1963, returning to New York about two months ago.

Mrkva said he started off supplying the Czechs with relatively minor items, a State Department telephone book, press releases, nonsecret administrative reports.

Then the Reds wanted more—a blank U.S. passport of a new series, rooms and locations of officers in the State Department dealing with Czech affairs.

The Czech agent did not pay particularly well, however, from Mrkva's standpoint. He recalls getting "paltry sums" like $100 or $200 at a time.

Anyway, he was turning it all over to the FBI. "I don't have a cent of it," he said.

In May 1965, Opatrny disclosed his more serious goal—installing listening devices in State Department offices. Mrkva provided him with a catalog of government furniture last December which could be used in designing an eavesdropping gadget to fit unobtrusively with such furniture.

FINALLY, last May 29 Opatrny gave Mrkva a small rectangular wood box about 13 inches long and 1 inch thick. It contained a tiny microphone and a radio transmitter which could be turned on and off by radio remote control outside the State Department building.

Missiles Do Trick; American Bombers Blast Another Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American jet fighters blasted two MIG21s out of the skies over North Viet Nam within three minutes today after downing a slower MIG17 Wednesday.

All three MIGs were brought down by heat-seeking Sidewinder missiles.

As U.S. Air Force F4C Phantoms were blasting the MIG21s, North Viet Nam's fastest jet fighter, U.S. B52 bombers pounded an area just south of the 17th Parallel frontier where an estimated 5,000 infiltrating Communist troops were believed to be massing.

The Air Force said the first MIG kill today was scored at 12:10 p.m. in the Red River Valley about 22 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Three minutes later the second delta-wing MIG21 was shot down 50 miles northwest of the North Vietnamese capital.

Capt. William J. Swender, 31, of Alamogordo, N.M., and 1st Lt. Duane A. Buttell, 25, of Chillicothe, Ill., brought down the first Communist jet.

"The MIG looked like a big, red barn door," said Buttell. "We shot him down with our first missile as he was on the tail of an F105."

Credit for the second MIG21 went to 1st Lt. Ronald G. Martin of Lake Villa, Ill., and 1st Lt. Richard N. Kriepa, 24, of Chesterton, Ind.

In the dogfight Wednesday four Navy Phantoms batiled off six slower MIG17s which challenged them as the Americans were providing a protective shield for U.S. planes bombing the Co Trai railway and highway bridges 23 miles southeast of Hanoi.

The Navy said one MIG was brought down by Lt. William M. McGuigan, 26, of Spearfish, S.D., and Lt. (j.g.) Robert M. Fowler, 25, of San Francisco. The other five MIGs fled, and the four Phantoms returned undamaged to the carrier Constellation, a Navy spokesman said.

The three kills brought to 17 the total number of MIGs downed by U.S. pilots over North Viet Nam. Another is list-

Storms Hit Scattered Sections

Heat Toll Reaches 106

By The Associated Press

Storms hit scattered sections of the nation's heat belt during the night but brought only temporary relief from the hot and humid weather across the eastern two-thirds of the country.

The death toll from the heat wave — now three weeks old in some areas — was at least 106. Scores of persons have been treated in hospitals for heat exhaustion and the continued hot and muggy weather has made millions of persons miserable.

Heat-related deaths in St. Louis and in two Illinois counties across the Mississippi River from the city totaled 87, including 54 in St. Louis.

New York City's Health Department reported 17 deaths last week directly attributed to heat stroke. Deaths for the week totaled 2,250, which was 650 above normal for the period.

Helen L. Taylor, St. Louis coroner, said most of the dead were elderly persons who died of heat and exhaustion, or a combination of heat exhaustion and such ailments as heart disease and diabetes.

The mercury soared to 106 degrees in St. Louis Wednesday, marking the fifth straight day of temperatures above 100.

Readings also reached 100 degrees or higher in parts of 21 states. The 101 at New York City was a record for July 13, eight degrees higher than the mark set in 1954. Philadelphia's 97 also was a high for the date.

There appeared little indication of any general cooling, with sunny weather forecast again for most of the nation. However, afternoon showers were expected in the Gulf and Southeast states, from the Rockies to the high Plains, and in the Upper Mississippi Valley.

Scorching heat blistered areas in the South, including 108 at Batesville, Ark., about 75 miles north of Little Rock. The high in Little Rock was 103, the same mark as reported at Fort Smith, Pine Bluff and Blytheville. It was 104 at Walnut Ridge.

Nashville, Tenn., had the hottest day — 103 — since Sept. 6, 1954, and Memphis' 101 was the fourth straight day of 100 or higher, the longest spell of such temperatures in 12 years. Several persons were treated for heat exhaustion at Memphis.

The Weather Bureau in Baltimore said high temperatures since June 27 have averaged 95.2 degrees, not including Wednesday's 100. The worst previous heat wave in the city was in 1930 when high marks for 24 days averaged 95.5.

Tornadoes and thunderstorms broke out in the Midwest and parts of New England during the night. Heavy rain also hit areas in the Midwest and other sections.

A twister knocked down power lines, uprooted trees and damaged farm buildings north of Rockford, Ill. A tornado that hit the Machesney Airport near Rockford flattened three hangars and damaged 20 planes. Damage was estimated at $75,000.

Funnel clouds also were spotted in the northeast corner of Illinois, near Indianapolis, and southwest of Gary, Ind. Three workmen were seriously injured at Speedway, Ind., when the wall of a department store was blown in.

Minor tornado damage was reported in an area about 15 miles west-northwest of Augusta, Maine, and at First Connecticut Lake in extreme northern New Hampshire. Heavy hail peppered Old Town, Maine, with lighter amounts in other parts of the state.

Severe thunderstorms rumbled across northern and central Kentucky. Winds up to 80 m.p.h. lashed Covington, across the Ohio River from Cincinnati. No injuries were reported but there was some property damage. The mercury, which hit 101 at Louisville and was in the 90s in much of the state, dropped as much as 20 degrees after the storms struck.

Up to six inches of rain was reported at Orient, S.D., as heavy rain splashed most of South Dakota and the southern edge of North Dakota.

9th Escapes 'Blond Man' In Slayings

'Crime Of Century,' Coroner Declares At Ghastly Scene

BULLETIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A man answering the description of the one sought in the massacre of eight young women today was reported seen in downtown Chicago in midmorning. Police communications reported a man with a blood-stained white shirt fled from the Delta Airlines office where he had tried to buy a ticket for New Orleans.

CHICAGO (AP) — Eight student nurses were butchered in their town house dormitory early today in what Coroner Andrew Toman called "the crime of the century."

They were killed methodically, one at a time, by a blond man during a 2½-hour horror orgy.

Some were strangled, some shot and some knifed, police reported.

One of nine young women in the dormitory escaped after the killer's departure to tell the story to police.

Police pieced the story together thus:

About 12:30 a.m., a tall white man, about 25, came to the door of the house at 2319 E. 100th St. on Chicago's far Southeast Side, one of three used as nurses' residences by South Chicago Hospital.

He asked one of the girls, who opened the door, for money, saying he was going to New Orleans. Pushing his way into the house, he drew a pistol and a knife.

Apparently the first student nurse was killed almost immediately. One body was found downstairs. The victim had been stabbed. Upstairs, most of the other residents had retired for the night in three bedrooms.

Seven of the young women were white, one was Negro and one Filipino.

Sgt. Thomas Bingham of the South Chicago Police District said that the killer penned the eight girls upstairs in one of the bedrooms, then led them, one by one, to another bedroom where they were killed during his deliberate, vicious orgy.

Lt. Francis Flanagan, chief of the detective bureau homicide section, said that the Filipino girl survived by hiding or escaping the killer's notice in some manner.

The slayer left the dormitory about 3 a.m. At nearly 6 a.m., the surviving student nurse ran to the street and stopped a passing police patrol car. She gasped her story to the unbelieving policemen who quickly verified it.

An official of the hospital said that the victims were ex-

'Bombs,' Bricks, Shots

Chicago Area Hit By New Violence

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

CHICAGO (AP) — Mobs of Negro youths, throwing fire bombs and bricks, stampeded through two Chicago neighborhoods Wednesday night.

It was the second successive night of violence on Chicago's West Side.

Here is the night's scorecard:

Twenty Negro youths were arrested and charged with arson, resisting arrest or disorderly conduct.

Dozens more were seized by police but later released.

More than a dozen policemen were hit by bricks, rocks and bottles but none suffered serious injuries.

At least two neighborhood residents were hit by stray bullets and hospitalized.

Scores of other persons were treated for injuries or hospitalized with wounds ranging from cuts to possible skull fractures.

Fire bombs started many blazes. Dozens of stores were looted. Broken glass from smashed shop windows littered sidewalks and streets.

Police turned off the hydrant, which had been turned on illegally — although it is a summer tradition in Chicago to cool off with gushing fire hydrants. Temperatures were in the 80s. Tuesday's disturbance had started the same way.

The onlooking Negroes shouted "police brutality" and claimed that police hit children with swinging nightsticks. Soon rocks and bottles began to crash in the police ranks.

Many of the rock throwers were adults and some were only 10 or 11 years old.

Earlier, two Negroes received gunshot wounds in separate incidents. Both victims told hospital officials they had been standing in their apartments when bullets whizzed through windows, wounding them.

When darkness fell, fire bombs again began to arc down from rooftops and out of the alleys.

Firemen answering calls were pelted with rocks. At one point, three fire bombs burst in the middle of a group of firemen fighting a blaze set by other fire bombs.

Some 30 policemen charged into the alley behind the burning structure, cursing the jeering Negroes and ordering them out of the way. They were greeted with sporadic gunfire and fired back.

Suddenly six shots rang out in rapid succession. Police fired

Locked-Door Session Seen In CIA Fight

Damage To Agency Feared In Face Of Heated Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle over the Central Intelligence Agency may force the Senate into a dramatic — and rare — locked-door session today as a guard against heated debate damaging the spy agency or the nation.

As a precaution, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and his Republican counterpart, Everett M. Dirksen, are considering barring public and press from the debate over revamping Senate supervision of the CIA.

Mansfield said in an interview that in the heat of battle "things might be said that aren't particularly true and could be harmful. Rumor and hearsay can be damaging."

Mansfield said the decision on whether to clear the galleries won't be made until before the debate opens.

The last such executive session was April 11, 1963, when the Senate discussed funds for an antiballistic missile system, and it was the first since World War II.

The issue today: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's attempt, through a resolution, to add three of its members to the present Senate CIA subcommittee charged with supervision of the big intelligence agency.

The resolution is strongly opposed by the exclusive seven-

2 On Motorcycle Die In Crash With Auto

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An auto and a motorcycle collided head-on in suburban Plum Borough today, killing two men on the motorcycle.

2 Dead, Damage Heavy

Windstorm Rips Southwest Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP) — Southwestern Ohioans were busy cleaning up today after a deadly windstorm that caused two deaths and thousands of dollars in damage.

The damage ranged from collapsed buildings, broken windows and uprooted trees to pleasure boats that were flung ashore along the Ohio River and seven light planes damaged at Middletown Airport and Cincinnati's Lunken Airport.

The storm victims were David Peters, 15, Mason, who was hit on the head by a tree limb and Lt. Paul Kathman, 36, a Cincinnati fireman, who stepped on a fallen live wire and was electrocuted.

Dozens of persons suffered minor injuries from flying debris when they fell while trying to reach cover. The storm was accompanied by hail and heavy rain that flooded basements in some places.

Heavy winds damaged the Columbus area Tuesday night and a storm dumped 11 inches of rain and caused a flood at Sandusky earlier Tuesday.

Wednesday's storm was brief but furious.

There were reports of winds being clocked all the way up to 92 miles per hour at Middletown, which was hit hardest. The effect of the storm was felt in Indiana and as far east as Ripley, whose telephone communications were knocked out for hours.

Many homes continued through the night without electric power and telephone service as workmen toiled to repair broken wires. About 20,000 customers of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. spent at least part of the night in the dark.

Middletown, about 30 miles north of here, was hit first. Winds toppled the 300-foot tower of radio station WPFB but the station went back on the air six hours later with a temporary antenna.

Lightning hit the main building of the Middletown Sand and Gravel Co., starting a fire that caused an estimated $175,000 damage. Firemen from four communities managed to keep the flames from reaching a 3,000 gallon gasoline storage tank 50 feet from the building.

Part of the roof of the Aeronca Manufacturing Co. plant was blown off and scores of houses in Middletown also lost all or part of their roofs. Trees and wires were reported down all over the city.

In Cincinnati, the winds hit the downtown area with enough force to shatter scores of plate glass windows and shop signs.

One of the buildings that collapsed was vacant, but a workman was injured and five vehicles damaged when the roof caved in on the Mack Truck Co.

Three policemen cruising in the West End — with winds strong enough "to blow bricks down the street" had a narrow escape.

Ptl. Robert Thomas said all the windows on one side of the cruiser were smashed when the front of a warehouse blew out.

Hopes Mount For Break In Airline Talks

Progress Indicated In Strike Parley As Negotiations Go On

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline negotiations push forward today amid signs that some substantial progress finally is being made toward ending the seven-day strike.

A hint of definite progress came Wednesday night when Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, presiding over the talks, met separately with representatives of the five struck airlines — Northwest, Trans World, Eastern, National and United.

They reportedly discussed the national issues involved in the request by the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists for wage increase and other benefits in a three-year contract.

There was no disclosure of the outcome of the airline meeting with the Labor Department official, but a spokesman said today's session would be another joint meeting.

Reynolds Wednesday likened the union-management impasse to a log jam which might be eliminated quickly merely by moving one or two key logs. He

One of nine young women in the dormitory escaped after the killer's departure to tell the story to police.

Police pieced the story together thus:

About 12:30 a.m., a tall white man, about 25, came to the door of the house at 2319 E. 100th St. on Chicago's far Southeast Side, one of three used as nurses' residences by South Chicago Hospital.

He asked one of the girls, who opened the door, for money, saying he was going to New Orleans. Pushing his way into the house, he drew a pistol and a knife.

Apparently the first student nurse was killed almost immediately. One body was found downstairs. The victim had been stabbed. Upstairs, most of the other residents had retired for the night in three bedrooms.

Seven of the young women were white, one was Negro and one Filipino.

Sgt. Thomas Bingham of the South Chicago Police District said that the killer penned the eight girls upstairs in one of the bedrooms, then led them, one by one, to another bedroom where they were killed during his deliberate, vicious orgy.

Lt. Francis Flanagan, chief of the detective bureau homicide section, said that the Filipino girl survived by hiding or escaping the killer's notice in some manner.

The slayer left the dormitory about 3 a.m. At nearly 6 a.m., the surviving student nurse ran to the street and stopped a passing police patrol car. She gasped her story to the unbelieving policemen who quickly verified it.

An official of the hospital said that the victims were ex-

'Bombs,' Bricks, Shots

Chicago Area Hit By New Violence

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

CHICAGO (AP) — Mobs of Negro youths, throwing fire bombs and bricks, stampeded through two Chicago neighborhoods Wednesday night.

It was the second successive night of violence on Chicago's West Side.

Here is the night's scorecard:

Twenty Negro youths were arrested and charged with arson, resisting arrest or disorderly conduct.

Dozens more were seized by police but later released.

More than a dozen policemen were hit by bricks, rocks and bottles but none suffered serious injuries.

At least two neighborhood residents were hit by stray bullets and hospitalized.

Scores of other persons were treated for injuries or hospitalized with wounds ranging from cuts to possible skull fractures.

Fire bombs started many blazes. Dozens of stores were looted. Broken glass from smashed shop windows littered sidewalks and streets.

Police turned off the hydrant, which had been turned on illegally — although it is a summer tradition in Chicago to cool off with gushing fire hydrants. Temperatures were in the 80s. Tuesday's disturbance had started the same way.

The onlooking Negroes shouted "police brutality!" and claimed that police hit children with swinging nightsticks. Soon rocks and bottles began to crash in the police ranks.

Many of the rock throwers were adults and some were only 10 or 11 years old.

Earlier, two Negroes received gunshot wounds in separate incidents. Both victims told hospital officials they had been standing in their apartments when bullets whizzed through windows, wounding them.

When darkness fell, fire bombs again began to arc down from rooftops and out of the alleys.

Firemen answering calls were pelted with rocks. At one point, three fire bombs burst in the middle of a group of firemen fighting a blaze set by other fire bombs.

Some 30 policemen charged into the alley behind the burning structure, cursing the jeering Negroes and ordering them out of the way. They were greeted with sporadic gunfire and fired back.

Suddenly six shots rang out in rapid succession. Police fired

Damage To Agency Feared In Face Of Heated Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle over the Central Intelligence Agency may force the Senate into a dramatic — and rare — locked-door session today as a guard against heated debate damaging the spy agency or the nation.

As a precaution, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and his Republican counterpart, Everett M. Dirksen, are considering barring public and press from the debate over revamping Senate supervision of the CIA.

Mansfield said in an interview that in the heat of battle "things might be said that aren't particularly true and could be harmful. Rumor and hearsay can be damaging."

Mansfield said the decision on whether to clear the galleries won't be made until before the debate opens.

The last such executive session was April 11, 1963, when the Senate discussed funds for an antiballistic missile system, and it was the first since World War II.

The issue today: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's attempt, through a resolution, to add three of its members to the present Senate CIA subcommittee charged with supervision of the big intelligence agency.

The resolution is strongly opposed by the exclusive seven-

2 Dead, Damage Heavy

Windstorm Rips Southwest Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP) — Southwestern Ohioans were busy cleaning up today after a deadly windstorm that caused two deaths and thousands of dollars in damage.

The damage ranged from collapsed buildings, broken windows and uprooted trees to pleasure boats that were flung ashore along the Ohio River and seven light planes damaged at Middletown Airport and Cincinnati's Lunken Airport.

The storm victims were David Peters, 15, Mason, who was hit on the head by a tree limb and Lt. Paul Kathman, 36, a Cincinnati fireman, who stepped on a fallen live wire and was electrocuted.

Dozens of persons suffered minor injuries from flying debris when they fell while trying to reach cover. The storm was accompanied by hail and heavy rain that flooded basements in some places.

Heavy winds damaged the Columbus area Tuesday night and a storm dumped 11 inches of rain and caused a flood at Sandusky earlier Tuesday.

Wednesday's storm was brief but furious.

There were reports of winds being clocked all the way up to 92 miles per hour at Middletown, which was hit hardest. The effect of the storm was felt in Indiana and as far east as Ripley, whose telephone communications were knocked out for hours.

Many homes continued through the night without electric power and telephone service as workmen toiled to repair broken wires. About 20,000 customers of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. spent at least part of the night in the dark.

Middletown, about 30 miles north of here, was hit first. Winds toppled the 300-foot tower of radio station WPFB but the station went back on the air six hours later with a temporary antenna.

Lightning hit the main building of the Middletown Sand and Gravel Co., starting a fire that caused an estimated $175,000 damage. Firemen from four communities managed to keep the flames from reaching a 3,000 gallon gasoline storage tank 50 feet from the building.

Part of the roof of the Aeronca Manufacturing Co. plant was blown off and scores of houses in Middletown also lost all or part of their roofs. Trees and wires were reported down all over the city.

In Cincinnati, the winds hit the downtown area with enough force to shatter scores of plate glass windows and shop signs.

One of the buildings that collapsed was vacant, but a workman was injured and five vehicles damaged when the roof caved in on the Mack Truck Co.

Three policemen cruising in the West End — with winds strong enough "to blow bricks down the street" had a narrow escape.

Ptl. Robert Thomas said all the windows on one side of the cruiser were smashed when the front of a warehouse blew out.

Hopes Mount For Break In Airline Talks

Progress Indicated In Strike Parley As Negotiations Go On

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline negotiations push forward today amid signs that some substantial progress finally is being made toward ending the seven-day strike.

A hint of definite progress came Wednesday night when Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, presiding over the talks, met separately with representatives of the five struck airlines — Northwest, Trans World, Eastern, National and United.

They reportedly discussed the national issues involved in the request by the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists for wage increase and other benefits in a three-year contract.

There was no disclosure of the outcome of the airline meeting with the Labor Department official, but a spokesman said today's session would be another joint meeting.

Reynolds Wednesday likened the union-management impasse to a log jam which might be eliminated quickly merely by moving one or two key logs. He more volleys as spectators ducked behind brick walls and mailboxes.

The night's second incident erupted 2½ hours later, some three miles west and along Pulaski Road. White detectives who had arrested a Negro robbery suspect were peppered with rocks by an all-Negro crowd.

Then the crowds broke out of control, smashed windows and looted stores.

The district's police commander, George Sims, a Negro, refused to estimate exactly how many hundreds of people were involved.

"These night fighters throw a rock from a rooftop or an alley and then melt away," he said.

The area was the scene of two nights or rioting last August.

But the night's most serious incidents occurred up and down the mile-long strip of Roosevelt Road that divides the all-Negro public housing neighborhood to the south from a poor Italian-American neighborhood to the north.

Some 500 police flooded the area as the night wore on.

They were attacked by crowds that at times numbered more than 300. The crowds would disperse as police advanced on them, only to reassemble a block or so away.

The incidents started shortly after 5:30 p.m.

Heavy rain brought a momentary lull, but fighting broke out again when the rain stopped.

During the lull, members of the West Side Organization, a Negro social-action group, heard an aide of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. plead for calm.

"I'm as ready to die as any man," said the Rev. Andrew Young, "but get yourselves something worth dying for. In Watts, a whole lot of people got hurt because they weren't organized. Sure the kids need swimming pools here. But this is a little thing we blow hot about. The main problem is that there are too many of us packed in here. We need living space."

But Young was shouted down, mostly by youths who had entered the storefront hall.

"Hate, hate, hate," came the chant from one group of youths.

Earlier, a crowd deserted comedian Dick Gregory who said he was trying to channel the crowd's anger toward legitimate protest.

King was not seen in the area Wednesday night.

"One of the reasons these people are so mad is that the mayor (Richard J. Daley) turned down Dr. King's suggestions, Monday," one youth worker said.

Residents in the area were uniformly bitter.

One man said: "The white man's strategy is causing this. Ask the city, ask the mayor, to compare the price of the water from one hydrant to all the money that's been wasted through vandalism and rioting."

A policeman replied: "It was absolutely essential to turn off that hydrant. If we hadn't we wouldn't have water pressure to fight fires."

"The police force is making war on babies," one Negro woman said. "That's what got us so mad."

Bands Of Teen-Agers Roam Brooklyn Area

NEW YORK (AP) — Small groups of Negro teen-agers roamed the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn Wednesday night and early today. Police said they broke seven store windows and there was some looting. Two youths were arrested.

Chief Police Inspector Sanford D. Garelik visited the area today after ordering 200 policemen due to get off at midnight kept on for an additional two hours.

The area was reported quiet shortly before dawn.

Garelik said the roving bands usually consisted of two or three youths in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican low-income section.

Garelik said residents of the neighborhood sat on their doorsteps and watched the looting but did not join in it. No one was hurt, he said.

The incident came 24 hours after a bottle-throwing brawl among Negro teen-agers in the Coney Island section of Brooklyn following a dance. More than a dozen persons were injured and 17 were arrested after the fight, which police said did not have racial overtones.

Although Russell has contended that too much talk could dry up CIA sources and endanger lives in the back alley struggle of international espionage, he said he regretted that the debate would likely be closed.

"I regret it because there has been so much misinformation and misrepresentation about the whole matter," Russell said in an interview.

He expressed belief a public airing might clear up misunderstanding about the intelligence agency and his group's role in ovreseeing its operations.

Russell said he had the votes to sidetrack the Foreign Relations Committee's resolution.

cautioned against hopes for any quick settlement, pointing out that there had been no change in the union's position since its statement of minimum demands one week ago.

Reynolds said the parties still are very far apart but he said "I don't think there is anything in the situation that cannot be resolved by the parties within hours if there is a real will to do it."

Reynolds said both sides are aware of their responsibility to the nation to settle the disagreements and restore air service.

The strike, estimated to be costing the airlines and labor some $8 million daily, is taking a heavy toll in the nation's great summer industry — the family vacation.

Resort spas across the nation reported many empty rooms and canceled reservations. Some hotels laid off workers.

The struck airlines began laying off workers in an attempt to hold down costs. Eastern Airlines furloughed 180 of its workers in New Orleans Wednesday and National Airlines laid off 194 workers.

More than 35,000 machinists walked off their jobs Friday after nearly year-long negotiations failed to produce an agreement. The strike has halted about 60 per cent of the nation's air travel.

The struck airlines agreed to bargain jointly with the union last August. Braniff, Continental and Northeast Airlines, with employes represented by the machinists, did not enter into the agreement and have not been struck.

Other nonstruck airlines have contracts with mechanics represented by the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union.

The chief dispute is over a union demand for wage increases of about 53 cents hourly over 36 months. The company has indicated it is willing to offer slightly more than the 44-to-48 cents recommended by a presidential panel over the same period.

Judge Suspends Youth's License In Speeding Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a 60-day suspension in the driver's license of William W. Bowers, 21, of 1207 Clover St., Wellsville, who pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone Sunday on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He also was fined $15 and costs.

The State Highway Patrol reported Bowers was cited for speeding on the same stretch in September 1965. The judge said Bowers may use his license during the suspension period only to drive to and from summer classes at Youngstown University.

The judge imposed a fine of $20 and costs on Francis G. Clark, 32, of Steubenville, who pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone Monday, also on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd.

Ludwig Spann, 50, of Lorain forfeited a $17.50 appearance bond on a charge of speeding 60 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St. near Westgate School. He was cited by the patrol Friday at 6 p.m.

150 Receive More Details In Water Plan

Some 150 attended an informational public meeting Wednesday night at the Lawrenceville fire station relative to the proposed construction of a water distribution system in the Lawrenceville and Johnsonville area.

Approximately half of the families living in the area to be served were represented at the meeting, William Schladen, chairman of the Lawrenceville Public Service District, estimated.

Many signatures of the 182 prospective users of the system were obtained, he said. Contracts with the users must be obtained before bids for the construction of the system may be secured, he explained.

Present at the meeting were the three members of the board of trustees — Schladen, James E. Fox and Donald Shaw; Dominic Cerrone of Cerrone & Vaughn, Inc., of Wheeling, an engineering firm; Boyd Turner, Hancock County director of the U.S. Farmers Home Administration, and Callie Tsapis, legal adviser.

Another meeting was set for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the fire station for anyone wishing further information on the proposed water system.

Midland Council Adopts '67 Budget Of $713,273

A proposed 1966-67 budget of $713,273 was adopted when the Midland Borough Council met Wednesday night. This is $118,583 larger than the 1965-66 budget of $594,589.

This year's budget allocates $569,960 for operation and maintenance, compared to last year's $454,746.

In this year's budget $83,876 has been allowed for capitol outlay, where last year's figure was $20,523. The debt service on bond issues and interest was reduced to $59,412 down from last year's figure of $118,394.98.

The breakdown on figures, with 1966 amounts in parenthesis, $50,000 for purchase of land and land improvement ($8,000); $4,500 for the purchase of two new police cars ($2,200); $20,000 for proposed storm and water drain repairs; $30,000 for cleaning streets and gutters ($27,000); and $10,000 for playgrounds and equipment ($1,000).

The appropriation for new lands will be utilized for increased parking facilities and for tennis courts, officials said.

The increased playground appropriation will be used for extra new equipment under the summer recreation program, a new shelter at 4th St., new lights at 7th St. and improvements at 1st St.

Donald Bertram, representative of Michael Baker Jr., borough engineer, reported he had met with the assistant design engineer of the Pennsylvania Highway Department about the proposed widening of 10th St. The Department advised since the state has no immediate plans for the widening of the street, the borough should make application for a permit to do so at its own expense.

Council asked the street committee to study the proposed street widening and make recommendations.

In discussing the construction of a 20-inch storm sewer through Lincoln Park, the borough engineer stated said construction should be delayed until the situation causing basement flooding in the 9th St. area can be rectified by construction of an additional storm sewer in that area, by repairing crumbled sewer sections or by correcting the slope of the 9th St. storm sewer.

Mayor Eli G. Corak requested further study of the causes of basement flooding be carried out at once by the Borough engineer because of the high evaluation of real estate in the 9th St. area.

Mayor Corak remarked that letters had been mailed from the Borough to the owners of several deteriorating buildings in Midland requesting razing or improvement by the owners, but that to date no answers have been received from the property owners.

Today Ed Cilli, assistant borough secretary, was to mail another letter to the property owners advising them that if they do not attempt to comply with the request by the next Council meeting, the Borough will take action to expedite the matter, Mayor Corak said.

He said that several who had visited Midland for the Fourth of July celebration had remarked about the apparent eyesores.

In a letter from the Borough engineer, it was deemed inadvisable to install a traffic signal at the intersection of 8th St. and Midland Ave. because of the insufficient amount of vehicular traffic entering Midland Ave. at that point, following a recent survey.

One bid was received from Motorola for four two - way portable radio units at $682 each, for a total of $2,728 for the units and the required accessories to be used to replace eight call boxes now in use by the Midland Police Department. The borough engineer was given authority to act on the bid following further study.

A letter was received from the Duquesne Light Co. stating that lights will be installed at Hillcrest as soon as possible in compliance with the Borough's request.

Cilli reported that inside and outside repairs have been completed on the Lincoln Park sanitary stations.

Mayor Corak requested copies of the minutes of each Council session be mailed to the councilmen a few days prior to the next meeting.

Upon the recommendation of William Vinovich Sr., Council president, and Mayor Corak the Borough secretary was instructed to prepare documented letters of thanks to the swimming pool personnel and to the persons responsible for saving the life of Claude Stewart, who was rescued from drowning at the Veterans Memorial Pool on July 3.

Vinovich, chairman of the pool committee, said 40 are enrolled in the Senior Lifesaving Course at the pool, and the Junior Course will begin on Monday.

He added that night swimming will be discontinued after tonight because of the lack of adult interest and that local men working night shift have been bothered by noise at the pool.

All bills were paid in the amount of $19,223.26.

The next meeting will be July 27 at 8 p.m.

Toastmasters Club Completes Project

The receptacle project undertaken by the Toastmasters Club has been completed, it was announced during the weekly meeting Wednesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office on W. 6th St. Harold Sneddon, president, presided.

Brochure Plans Pushed By Chamber At Midland

The Midland Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night furthered plans for an industrial site brochure and authorized a letter to the Bell Telephone Co. advising the firm of community emergencies created by disrupted phone service during a recent storm.

At the dinner meeting at the Willows Motel at Industry, it was reported phone service in the borough was disrupted at one time for five hours during a rainstorm, during which the parents of a child with pneumonia were unable to telephone for an ambulance and had to walk to the ambulance operator's office.

A. L. Breakiron was named chairman of the industrial development committee which will begin selecting sites and drawing up specifications and photographing sites to be included in the brochure to be circulated among various companies to interest them in locating in the Midland area.

The Chamber voted to back all other development agencies showing interest in the Midland area also.

The Chamber has ordered the new Christmas lights for Midland Ave. Some time in August the necessary repairing or replacement of wiring for the strings of lights will be completed, Lester W. Smith Jr., Chamber president, announced.

The Chamber received a letter of thanks from Mrs. James Green who expressed her gratitude for being selected Midland's Mother of the Year.

Congratulations were extended Paul McGeehan and Howard Nophsker and the Fourth of July float committee for their fine work in developing this year's theme, "The Spirit of '66."

Anthony Martell received an enscribed plaque in recognition of his recent store remodeling. Smith advised that all Midland merchants engaged in remodeling project will receive a similar plaque.

Nophsker was named chairman for an extensive membership drive to begin immediately. Smith stated the Chamber's feelings that each merchant and every business in Midland should belong to the Chamber of Commerce in order to accomplish the most good for the benefit of the borough.

The next meeting will be Aug. 10.

Class To Clean Grandstand During Annual County Fair

Fair directors gave the students the job Wednesday night at the request of Class President David Miller. They were grandstand custodians for the 1965 fair.

Directors approved the use of a 200-foot-wide area south of the Floral Hall as a landing area for helicopters.

The Rotary Club will sponsor 'copter rides at the fair. Terry Ewing of the Canton air patrol inspected and approved the site. The landing area will be circled with snow fence.

President Edwin Thompson was in charge. Ike Skeels, grounds manager, was authorized to have the midway drive repaired and to make general repairs.

Plans are being made to paint the secretary's office and white fence around it as well as the wire fence around the grounds.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, July 27, when wives of the directors will request certain improvements in the arts and crafts building.

25 Are Out On Bond In Picketing Arrests

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Twenty-five persons were free on bond today following their arrest while picketing the James H. Matthews Co. in Pittsburgh's East Liberty section.

Police said they ordered the pickets to disperse from the entrance to the plant Wednesday night, then arrested them on charges of disorderly conduct when they failed to heed the order.

Speaking Of Things Undeclared

Before Viet Nam, there was Laos. And before Laos and Viet Nam, there was Indo-China, which split into Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

These names came into the news when France was ousted from Southeast Asia. These were the weak new nations whose civil strife invited intercession of outside influence to offset Communist influence.

Today, the news is from Viet Nam, South Viet Nam especially.

But a special dispatch to the New York Times on July 12 gave details of another front in the undeclared war the United States is fighting in Southeast Asia.

U.S. warplanes, the dispatch related, carry out more than 800 air strikes a day in Southeast Asia on the average, and 100 of these are in Laos.

Yet, no one ever hears about them, because the Pentagon thinks by saying nothing it is protecting the neutralist position of Prince Souvanna Phouma, chief of state in Laos since 1962.

The prince does not want to be classified as a Communist, therefore he permits the United States to carry out air raids against "targets" in Laos. But he does not want to be called an anti-Communist, therefore he prefers not to have the outside world know full-scale aerial warfare is being waged over Laos.

The "targets" are troops from North Viet Nam en route to South Viet Nam. They are bombed and strafed systematically by U.S. warplanes from carriers in the South China Sea and from airfields in South Viet Nam and Thailand.

But to speak of this is forbidden, reports the New York Times. It is the Pentagon's undeclared front in the undeclared war in Southeast Asia.

Titanium Booms

The Titanium Metals Corp. is another constantly-expanding industry which continues to express its confidence in the present and the future of the tri-state area.

By earmarking some $30 million of a $50-million three-year spending program for its Toronto plant, Titanium leaves no doubt of confidence in its entire operation and that of its nearby Jefferson county facility in particular.

The industrial news has been good the last few years for the area. The Titanium program adds another encouraging chapter.

Strengthening Police Authority

New York's Mayor Lindsay wonders what the fuss is about over the police review board he has appointed and predicts that in a year or two everybody will be wondering.

Apparently, the mayor isn't aware of a point of view in some parts of the nation that police authority should be placed in the right hands and thereafter be above questioning. The right hands, of course, would be designated by police authoritarians.

That is what the fuss is about.

But while this cultivation of a police-state mentality goes on, thoughtful people interested in strengthening police authority for an entirely different reason are pointing to New York City's new police review board with another thought in mind.

They think it will enhance the prestige of the police department in the long run, because it will give an objective review to complaints. Complainants who now protest that the police department acts as prosecutor, judge and jury will be stilled. A finding against a complainant would strengthen the police.

The review board has no executive power. It is advisory. Executive authority remains with the police commissioner, where it belongs.

It might not even take a year or two for the new review board to take the New York City police out of the line of fire. It could happen in a week or two, to the consternation of the people hoping they can accuse it of weakening police authority.

Precedents To Shudder Over

A veteran football referee's suit against the National Football League for $214,000 damages because a news release announcing his retirement implied he was too old to be employed could turn into a precedent for employers to shudder over.

We can see them now in our mind's eye—those terse announcements that Joe Blow, veteran employe of the Wobbledy Widget Works, is retiring after 43 years of faithful service and was given a clock by a fellow workers and the Wobbledy management at a dinner. Joe says he thinks the time will go fast from now on.

Seems old Joe never missed a day's work and often worked for the fun of it. He was given a special Kennedy rocker for his sunset years—and sure enough, there's a picture of old Joe sitting in the rocker.

The football referee, Charles A. Sweeney of South Bend, Ind., alleges an implication that a 51-year-old man is unable to hold down a refereeing job constitutes libel and claims he has been barred from employment at his hobby-profession.

We can see them now—the terse announcements of the future:

Joe Blow, valued employe of the Wobbledy Widget Works, has asked management to be relieved of his duties so he can become a free agent. Pictured above is Joe trying out the titaium pogo stick given to him by admiring employes and bereaved management.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

Now that the temperature has been crowding 100 degrees, the crops are almost ruined by drought and the populace is prostrate from heat, I hope you're satisfied.

With all the complaining you did last winter about the snow, you must be in your glory.

Pardon me for a minute while I wipe my brow and get a glass of cold lemonade.

Now maybe you can realize why people in the tropics and semitropics and our own southern states at first glance appear to be lazy. They aren't lazy, they are just trying to survive in a hot oven.

So that you won't think this is entirely critical of you and destructive, here is a constructive suggestion for you:

Now is the time for you to go out and buy a pair of snowshoes for that Klondike driveway of yours. Snowshoes should be selling at knockdown prices right about now.

At our house, we took advantage of the break in frigid weather to clean the damper at the top of the fireplace in the living room. It has been sealed shut ever since a bricklayer rebuilt the crumbling chimney on top of the roof. He dropped a lot of mortar on the damper.

Well sir, Twill, a chimney sweep's lot is not an easy one. Not having any manpower for the job, we used womanpower, which served admirably. Everything but the kitchen sink came out of that chimney.

An inventory of the chimney contents showed a piece of mortar a foot long, an inch thick and six inches wide, two chimney-swift nests and a peck of soot.

Most of the soot billowed out like an A-bomb cloud into the living room. But there is no use dwelling on the unhappy aspects of what was on the whole a worthwhile project, no matter what anyone says.

You never can tell when the furnace might go on the blink and the fireplace might be needed to stave off the danger of freezing to death.

But one thing always leads to another, so the next thing is to get some fire wood and coal, now that the fireplace is operable again.

Hiring local federal aid coordinators to make sure the home constituents get their share of the Washington pie raises some interesting points. At times, I have been accused of being anti-anti-bureaucrat, but this time I'm not so sure.

A news story said there were 100,000 state and local governments competing for their share of federal funds. If each of these local governments hired a federal aid coordinator at $10,000 a year that would cost $1 billion right there.

Seems like a high price for us to pay to try to get our own money back from Washington.

Sweat on, Twill, sweat on. Keep that treadmill moving.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

So what's in a name? If the plan had been called Medicost instead of Medicare, confusion about its purpose would have been averted. It is a plan to pay for the high cost of medical care, not to guarantee the care.

Question of the month: How did Mike Wallace persuade Govs. Faubus, Wallace and Johnson of Arkansas, Alabama and Mississippi respectively, to make fools of themselves about civil rights on a national TV hookup?

Every time I hear a protector of the American way of life sneer about the "Communist apparatus," implying it is behind everybody who disagrees with him, I wish I had a catalogue of all the other apparatuses you run across during a lifetime.

Lynda Bird Johnson is an utterly attractive young woman, but the fact cannot be dodged that her facial profile is a great deal like that of her father, whose profile is one in a million.

It is fun to have another cheating scandal to talk about, because if only those who were without sin themselves cast stones at cheaters the slobs would sustain no injury—yet the stones rain down on them like pats on the heads of straight-A students.

One way to feel better about the discouragement of current events is to recall what merciless critics and carpers were saying in other times about current events. The more that happens, the more there is to complain about.

One of the most fascinating seasonal sights in Rosy Fingered Dawn is a flock of birds fluttering down into the meadow and being completely out of sight, then rising in a dark cloud of motion to wheel away for another settling down.

If would-be renovaters of the Capitol had been smart, they would have started a campaign against Capitol renovation. This would have been fought tooth and nail by the anti-anti-renovaters and renovaters would have been spared the effort.

I broke up when a joker thought it would be funny if Mrs. Wallace got elected in Alabama and then divorced her ex-governor hubby. Funny? It would be uproarious!

Oh, That Mr. In-Between

The New Strike Offensive

By Victor Riesel

Now what say the intellectual critics and the university ivory towerists of the lack of labor milifancy? What say they of the "tired old men who lead labor"?

Victor Riesel

Had these critics left their round tables and forged forth instead of forumed, they would have known what a handful of insiders know — that labor is on the march again. And that the Machinists' airline strike — called last Friday — is the worst in history.

It is the beginning, for there is a new breed of labor leaders — and a new breed does not mean a young breed.

It is prelude to strikes on railroads and city transit lines.

It is the harbinger of new airline strikes, possibly as early as July 27 on American Airlines, and later on the systemwide network of the Pan American World Airways — with all its caretaker operations in missiles and space and atomic experimentation.

THE MACHINISTS' airline strike called the signal for open season on all vital functions, anywhere, any time and in any pursuit.

Thus there will be strike crises, wrought by labor coalitions, which will startle the land from now right on through 1968.

And in the vortex will be men in their 60s — just like the Machinists' leader, "Roy" Siemiller, 62, Navy veteran long before World War II, and his airline specialist, Vice President Joe Ramsey of the same age.

They are militants. They have replaced still older leaders — and with their cadre came strike calls and walkouts which paralyzed production of swept-wing bombers, phantom jets, Viet Nam-type helicopters, scarce ball powder, brass artillery and ammunition shells, million-candle-power flares, grenades, small arms and intricate nuclear warhead wirings.

SO THEY DID NOT and will not hesitate to strike airlines, electronic corporations, copper mines, auto factories and aerospace plants in the next months and years.

Machinist President Roy Siemiller is a trade unionist — pure but not so simple. Soft-voiced, sincere, good-humored, he nonetheless is tough. He knows what he wants. He wants to deliver to his people.

He is a relatively new national union president. But he is of old union stock. He knows you can't get sherry from squeezing dried-out grape pits.

So when last year the Civil Aeronautics Board threatened to cut the fare rates on commercial airlines, Siemiller on Sept. 27 wrote a strong letter to Chairman Charles Murphy telling him:

"Though we often have disagreed with the managements of many airlines in the past, we believe they are correct, in this instance, in contending that a cut in fares will dilute revenues without generating enough new traffic to offset that dilution.

"Moreover . . . the carriers have committed more than $2.4 billion for new equipment. This investment, plus the more equitable wage scales which, with the overwhelming support of our members, we are fully determined to pursue, demands that CAB refrain from tampering with the current rate schedule."

SIEMILLER knows that the better the profits the better the wages. And when he could not get what he wanted — roughly about half the profits earned — he struck because he knew that is what his 35,300 followers wanted.

The corporations earned some $200 million last year. They offered increases of some $76 million.

But the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers demanded a package of $114 million, though the settling price always is lower. But they fought for a full half of the yearly profit.

They argued that the commercial airline field had been a sick industry but it was made well by the jets. So union leaders hit hard.

THERE ARE OTHER unions lining up for the attack. The Transport Workers Union, which struck the New York City transit system in the year's early turbulent days — and won a package of some $65 million — is going after American Airlines and Pan Am — and the TWU chiefs are newly upgraded, albeit they are in their 50s and more.

There is no containing the "newcomers" — whether they be the "younger" Paul Jennings of the International Union of Electrical Workers or the stalwart I. W. Abel, the "man of steel." "Abe" is, at once, of the older generation and the new breed.

They waited long for their chance to deliver. They believe their predecessors were too close to the government, the secretary of labor, the White House, the president.

They have returned to the birthplace of their profession, the original weapon — the picket line.

Odd Facts

Fireflies have their femmes fatales. Females of the carnivorous Photuris genus imitate the flashing of Photinus females. A luckless male Photinus responding to the false love signal is swiftly eaten.

The seashore sand locust endures dune temperatures up to 135 degrees simply by jumping about, the National Geographic says. The grasshopper leaps into air that may be 50 degrees cooler a few feet above the hot sand's surface.

Peru's rare Marvelous Hummingbird has only four tail feathers. Two are several times longer than the bird itself and tipped with feathered flags. The other two tail feathers are shaped like long thorns.

Much of the mercury used in the United States comes from a mine at Almaden, Spain. This mine may have operated as early as 400 B.C.

Review Board

By David Lawrence

Lindsay Action Draws Attention

Mayor Lindsay of New York City faced a problem this week that not only concerns every city in the country, but is related to the civil-rights movement, the crime wave and the whole question of how to deal with "police brutality." The mayor and police commissioner appointed two Negroes and a Puerto Rican to a newly created police review board of seven members.

David Lawrence

A white member named as chairman of the board—Algernon D. Black—happens to be a vice president and director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. There are three police officials—one of them a Negro—and four civilians on the board.

The real trouble is not in the composition of the board itself, but rather in the motivation of the mayor, who felt he had to appoint representatives from minority and civil-rights groups in order to satisfy public opinion.

This is not a novel formula, though the principle is hardly one of which government—federal, county or city—can be proud.

Presumably, when legal matters are under consideration, judges or members of quasi-judicial board should be chosen not on the basis of their preconceptions or political beliefs or prejudices but on the ability or judicial capacity they may possess.

APPOINTMENTS to the Supreme Court of the United States often have been made for political reasons. Presidents felt they had to select justices of one religion or another so as to balance the membership.

Any inference that a choice has been made on the basis of ideology or political philosophy has repeatedly been minimized. But the truth is that the judges of the highest court in the land are picked today from among those who have shown by their previously expressed attitudes that they represent a particular point of view.

In establishing a board to review allegations of "brutality," every city is up against a preconceived notion that the police commissioner himself will always rule on the side of the police. The concept of a disinterested board is, therefore, understandable.

But when it comes to selecting members, the question is whether the public interest is served when any consideration is given weight, except ability and honest-mindedness.

It is doubtful, also, whether any racial or religious group will be satisfied with just a minority representation on any board. To meet such objections, theoretically at least, it would be necessary to appoint to a civilian board seven Puerto Ricans or seven Negroes, as the case may be.

There is no way by which a civilian board can pass impartially on all cases if political or social prejudices are to be regarded as requiring special attention. Perhaps the only way out is to appoint a new board every time a controversy arises involving certain races or color or nationality or religion.

IN THE LONG run, civilian review boards may do more harm than good. The policemen themselves may be hesitant to take effective measures in quelling disorders. Many policemen do not want to be placed under charges and required to stand trial as if they themselves were criminals.

The mere fact that the mayor of a large city feels that he cannot administer justice without catering to special groups is a disappointing trend in American governmental life.

Only in extreme cases where the evidence is clear-cut is justice likely to be obtained. Where there is doubt about facts, the members of a civilian board might be inclined to vote their prejudices against a policeman accused of wrongdoing.

The controlling consideration will be sentimental or emotional.

Demands for civilian boards to review charges of "police brutality" have raised controversies in Chicago and Philadelphia and other major cities.

New York City's experience will be watched with acute interest throughout the country.

A white member named as chairman of the board—Algernon D. Black—happens to be a vice president and director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. There are three police officials—one of them a Negro—and four civilians on the board.

The real trouble is not in the composition of the board itself, but rather in the motivation of the mayor, who felt he had to appoint representatives from minority and civil-rights groups in order to satisfy public opinion.

This is not a novel formula, though the principle is hardly one of which government—federal county or city—can be proud.

Presumably, when legal matters are under consideration, judges or members of quasi-judicial board should be chosen not on the basis of their preconceptions or political beliefs or prejudices but on the ability or judicial capacity they may possess.

APPOINTMENTS to the Supreme Court of the United States often have been made for political reasons. Presidents felt they had to select justices of one religion or another so as to balance the membership.

Any inference that a choice has been made on the basis of ideology or political philosophy has repeatedly been minimized. But the truth is that the judges of the highest court in the land are picked today from among those who have shown by their previously expressed attitudes that they represent a particular point of view.

In establishing a board to review allegations of "brutality," every city is up against a preconceived notion that the police commissioner himself will always rule on the side of the police. The concept of a disinterested board is, therefore, understandable.

But when it comes to selecting members, the question is whether the public interest is served when any consideration is given weight, except ability and honest-mindedness.

It is doubtful, also, whether any racial or religious group will be satisfied with just a minority representation on any board. To meet such objections, theoretically at least, it would be necessary to appoint to a civilian board seven Puerto Ricans or seven Negroes, as the case may be.

There is no way by which a civilian board can pass impartially on all cases if political or social prejudices are to be regarded as requiring special attention. Perhaps the only way out is to appoint a new board every time a controversy arises involving certain races or color or nationality or religion.

IN THE LONG run, civilian review boards may do more harm than good. The policemen themselves may be hesitant to take effective measures in quelling disorders. Many policemen do not want to be placed under charges and required to stand trial as if they themselves were criminals.

The mere fact that the mayor of a large city feels that he cannot administer justice without catering to special groups is a disappointing trend in American governmental life.

Only in extreme cases where the evidence is clear-cut is justice likely to be obtained. Where there is doubt about facts, the members of a civilian board might be inclined to vote their prejudices against a policeman accused of wrongdoing.

The controlling consideration will be sentimental or emotional.

Demands for civilian boards to review charges of "police brutality" have raised controversies in Chicago and Philadelphia and other major cities.

New York City's experience will be watched with acute interest throughout the country.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 12 years old. My problem is 6 years old. She is my sister.

My mother made a rule a long time ago that I have to put my little sister to bed. This means help her get her clothes off, see that she puts them away, make sure she has a good bath and then tell her a bedtime story and lie down on the bed with her until she falls asleep.

Sometimes this takes two hours, because after the bedtime story she wants to talk a blue streak. My mother has given me orders to stay with her until she is off to dreamland.

Well, I'm pretty sick of it. There is some good stuff on TV between 7 and 9 p.m. and I have telephoning to do. Also, I like to read to myself. I told my mother I can't lie down with my sister until she gets married and it's time she got to dreamland on her own.

Please be on my side and help me.—TROUBLE IN CORNING, N.Y.

Dear Trouble: You sound like a very nice girl and I'm going to try to help you—part way.

I think you should get your little sister ready for bed, and it's lovely of you to do all the things you mentioned. But, after the bedtime story you ought to say "good night" and leave the room. A 6-year-old girl should not need someone to talk her to sleep every night, which is what you are doing.

Second-Guesser

Dear Ann: Your advice to the girl from Quebec, who complained about excessive perspiration from her hands, was not up to your usual standards. When you spoke in Canada you said that you consult with authorities in a variety of fields. Who was your authority on that one? A plumber?

The medical diagnosis of the condition described by the girl is "hyperhidrosis. It can be corrected by surgery. Why did you tell the poor kid to go to a skin specialist? Hers is not a skin problem. Get with it, Ann, will you please? — A DISAPPOINTED READER.

Dear Disappointed: I suggested a skin doctor because often this condition can be corrected by anticholinergic drugs. A dermatologist knows about these things.

If the drugs do not work, the surgical procedure you mentioned can be performed in extreme cases. The operation is called thoracic sympathectomy. The surgeon severs the nerves which control the sweat glands in the hands, terminating the perspiration problem.

Ex-Wife Role

Dear Ann: My close friend was planning to marry a man she loved deeply. His wife divorced him seven years ago. Ten days ago the man dropped dead of a heart attack.

When my friend arrived at the funeral chapel she saw her sweetheart's ex-wife seated in the front row with the other members of the family. She was dressed in black from head to toe and appeared to be the chief mourner.

Is it proper for an ex-wife to show up at the funeral of her ex-husband? Shouldn't she stay away if she knows there is another woman in the picture? —REPLY REQUESTED.

Dear Reply: There's no reason an ex-wife should not attend the funeral of her ex-husband if she wishes to. But she should not be decked out in widow's weeds nor should she be seated with the family unless she is invited.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Group Completes Plans For Booth At Homecoming

HIGHLANDTOWN — Projects for its booth at the Highlandtown firemen's homecoming were completed by the Highlandtown Women's Corps during its meeting Tuesday night in the fire station.

The group decided to rent a tent for the booth instead of using one purchased earlier "which doesn't suit its purposes." For a donation to the country store in the booth, Mrs. Sara Crist, president, or any member should be contacted.

Officers will be elected at the Aug. 9 meeting.

Varied Activities Featured At Western Beaver Playlots

Activities are continuing under the first summer recreation program sponsored by the Western Beaver Area School System, with playgrounds located at the Logan, Snyder and Fairview schools.

Dan Sekeres, recreation director, points out that the playlots are available to all students in the school district and "it is not necessary to attend summer school to participate."

Students may register at any playground between 1 and 4 p.m., he said.

Games, arts and crafts have been featured to date pending the installation of equipment such as swings and merry-go-rounds.

Snyder, Ben Stuart, Louis Hudson, Linda Kelly, George Kelly and Bruce Simpson.

Ohio Gets Set To Take Over If U.S. Closes Reformatory

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—All signs point to the closing soon of the Chillicothe Federal Reformatory, with Ohio standing by ready to use the facility as soon as the federal government makes it official.

Months ago the Bureau of Prisons announced it planned to close one federal institution in the country without naming which it would be. Since then, while withholding any announcement it has been taken for granted it would be Chillicothe, where 1,100 prisoners were confined. The reformatory employs 325 persons.

Martin A. Janis, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, who has visited the reformatory along with other state officials, said that federal authorities have assured him that Ohio's request to take over the institutions would be approved once the decision to close it was announced.

That announcement is expected before the end of the year. Local observers note that few if any new inmates are being taken into the institution and that the population is dwindling. The prison industries have been closed out.

Janis said Ohio has three possible plans for use of the institution. One would be to make it a reception center for processing all inmates of the state's correction institution. Another would be to turn it into a medial center for all correctional institutions. The last possibility would be to make it the last stop on the road to freedom for inmates of all correctional institutions, providing an orientation center for those about to be released and on the road to rehabilitation.

County Cancer Deaths Listed Last 15 Years

Based on a 1965 population of 109,120, this was 164 deaths per 100,000, compared with a statewide average of 151.

The statistics are from a report released by the county unit of the American Cancer Society. Mrs. Gwen Gallatin of East Palestine, president, said the report is compiled from information received from the vital statistics division of the Ohio Department of Health.

The peak year for cancer deaths in Columbiana County was 1962, with 205, for a death rate of 189 per 100,000 population. The least number of deaths was 147 (135 per 100,000) in 1964, the last year of the report. There were 201 cancer deaths in 1963.

Average mortality rates in neighboring counties for the 15-year period follow:

Stark, 476, or a rate of 146 per 100,000; Mahoning, 490 (169); Carroll, 29 (146), and Jefferson, 160 (163).

Applying cancer statistics locally, Mrs. Gallatin said the county can expect 163 cancer deaths and 305 new cases this year. An estimated 102 patients will be saved.

Mrs. Gallatin said many cancer deaths resulted simply because the cancer was diagnosed too late. The society's public education programs teach people to recognize cancer's early warning signals and get annual health checkups, she said.

Information on speakers and free films is available at the county unit office in Lisbon.

Mrs. Jayne Calhoun, executive director, said the unit has registered four new cases this month. There were 12 new cases during May and June.

She said the cancer crusade is approximately $5,000 short of the $21,000 goal, with most of the deficit being in Salem and East Liverpool. The society raised $20,000 last year and has a $20,000 budget for the fiscal year, beginning Sept. 1.

"We have to make up the shortage to guarantee patient services," Mrs. Calhoun said. The national society receives 28 per cent of the collection for cancer research and education.

A federal study had disclosed that disorders associated with alcoholism include liver, stomach and kidney ailments, nervous and mental disorders and brain damage.

White Continues Attempts To Void Primary Results

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mount Vernon rabbit broker William L. White says he's not down yet in the Republican gubernatorial primary he lost by a half-million votes May 3.

White asked the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday to void the primary results which gave Gov. James A. Rhodes the opportunity for re-election. The court refused to accept White's request, saying it was not submitted in proper form.

White, 70, said he would attempt to comply with the proper court procedure but that if the state court turned him down again he would go directly to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He said his request was based on the fact that his campaign was limited to 27 days. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown ruled White did not have enough petition signatures to get on the primary ballot, but the Supreme Court later overruled Brown's decision.

Based on a 1965 population of 109,120, this was 164 deaths per 100,000, compared with a statewide average of 151.

The statistics are from a report released by the county unit of the American Cancer Society. Mrs. Gwen Gallatin of East Palestine, president, said the report is compiled from information received from the vital statistics division of the Ohio Department of Health.

The peak year for cancer deaths in Columbiana County was 1962, with 205, for a death rate of 189 per 100,000 population. The least number of deaths was 147 (135 per 100,000) in 1964, the last year of the report. There were 201 cancer deaths in 1963.

Average mortality rates in neighboring counties for the 15-year period follow:

Stark, 476, or a rate of 146 per 100,000; Mahoning, 490 (169); Carroll, 29 (146), and Jefferson, 160 (163).

Applying cancer statistics locally, Mrs. Gallatin said the county can expect 163 cancer deaths and 305 new cases this year. An estimated 102 patients will be saved.

Mrs. Gallatin said many cancer deaths resulted simply because the cancer was diagnosed too late. The society's public education programs teach people to recognize cancer's early warning signals and get annual health checkups, she said.

Information on speakers and free films is available at the county unit office in Lisbon.

Mrs. Jayne Calhoun, executive director, said the unit has registered four new cases this month. There were 12 new cases during May and June.

She said the cancer crusade is approximately $5,000 short of the $21,000 goal, with most of the deficit being in Salem and East Liverpool. The society raised $20,000 last year and has a $20,000 budget for the fiscal year, beginning Sept. 1.

"We have to make up the shortage to guarantee patient services," Mrs. Calhoun said. The national society receives 28 per cent of the collection for cancer research and education.

A federal study had disclosed that disorders associated with alcoholism include liver, stomach and kidney ailments, nervous and mental disorders and brain damage.

White Continues Attempts To Void Primary Results

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mount Vernon rabbit broker William L. White says he's not down yet in the Republican gubernatorial primary he lost by a half-million votes May 3.

White asked the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday to void the primary results which gave Gov. James A. Rhodes the opportunity for re-election. The court refused to accept White's request, saying it was not submitted in proper form.

White, 70, said he would attempt to comply with the proper court procedure but that if the state court turned him down again he would go directly to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He said his request was based on the fact that his campaign was limited to 27 days. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown ruled White did not have enough petition signatures to get on the primary ballot, but the Supreme Court later overruled Brown's decision.

A desolate crater on the moon is named Hell. The crater honors an 18th-Century Hungarian astronomer, Maximilian Hell, and is not hotter than any other moon feature. The moon's temperature ranges from 214 degrees Fahrenheit by day to 250 below zero at night.

Curb Temper In Heat Wave, Judge Warns

Two couples charged with using foul language as a result of a neighborhood dispute were cautioned today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff that tempers tend to flare in hot, muggy weather and they must restraint to avoid offending tothers.

He delivered the lecture to all six men and women involved in the dispute last Saturday. Two of the defendants were convicted of using improper language and two others were absolved. The charges were preferred by another couple in the same neighborhood.

The judge convicted Mrs. Dorothy Harris of 408 Elm St., but absolved her husband, James Harris. He also convicted Arthur Rhodes of 430 College St., but acquitted his wife, Ruth Rhodes.

The charges were brought by Mr. and Mrs. James Davis of 415 Elm St. In each instance, they charged the defendants with "disturbing the peace by using loud, abusive, obscene and profane language."

In his testimony, Rhodes admitted there had been a dispute in the neighborhood. He said he argued with his brother - in - law. Mrs. Rhodes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris.

The judge fined Rhodes $10 and costs. He decreed a similar penalty for Mrs. Harris, but suspended the fine on payment of costs.

In commenting on the case, the judge remarked he remembered hearing a similar case from the same neighborhood last summer, involving most of the same people.

"You all must remember that tempers tend to flare in hot weather," the judge remarked. He asked each of the defendants to stand, as well as the complaining witnesses, to hear his lecture.

"We are sitting on the edge of a precipice in which the world could go up in smoke any day, yet you people have petty arguments," the judge said. "If you can't live in peace in that neighborhood, get out."

"You're adults," the judge continued. "You must learn to live and let live. Keep on an even keel. This whole thing is silly."

District Youth Stationed At French Base

SALINEVILLE — Pvt. Charles D. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore of Lincoln St., is now stationed at Headquarters Co., Security Area, in eastern France. He arrived there June 17 after completing advanced training at the quartermaster school at Ft. Lee, Va.

Pvt. Moore is a 1964 graduate of Southern Local High School and entered the service in February.

Mrs. Ray Slagle was hostess to the ONC Club Tuesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney of E. Main St.

Mrs. Jenny Roberts received the attendance prize and Mrs. Slagle and Mrs. Norma Kellogg "secret sisters" gifts. A white elephant auction featured the program. Lunch was served.

A picnic is being planned for Aug. 9.

Army Pvt. David C. Orr, son of Roy J. Orr of E. Main St., has completed a vehicle mechanic course at Ft. Jackson, S. C. He entered the service in February and completed basic training at Ft. Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Folen and family of E. Main St. are vacationing in Michigan.

Mrs. Louis Dowling and daughter Janet of Kensington R.D. visited here Tuesday.

Slice an angelfood cake in half to make two layers. Put the layers together with sweetened whipped cream topped with whole cranberry sauce. Frost the entire cake with whipped cream and top with slivered toasted almonds. Nice for company! The cranberry sauce gives interesting flavor contrast to the bland angel cake.

Chester Fair Plans Pushed

Work assignments for the annual fair July 25-30 were made during a special meeting of the Chester volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the station.

The fair will extend from Carolina Ave. beyond Indiana Ave. on 4th St., it was announced. Although the Indiana Ave. intersection will be closed during the fair hours each night, it will be open to traffic during the day, it was explained.

A limited number of ride tickets are now available from firemen at a reduced price, it was announced.

Those wishing to have a stand or concession in the fair are asked to contact George Allison, general chairman, if they have not yet done so.

Prizes will be awarded each night.

Final plans for the parade on July 29 also were discussed.

Lorin Murray, a probationary member of the department, submitted his resignation last night, explaining that he is moving outside the city.

Allison, assistant chief, presided.

director of East European affairs.

Opatrny paid a $500 installment and said if the device worked, another one should be installed in Ball's office.

This was as far as the operation got. Instead of planting the device where the Czechs wanted it, Mrkva turned it over to the FBI. The FBI tested it briefly in the building and found it worked effectively, but that was its only use.

Opatrny, meanwhile, became concerned that the eavesdropping gear was not working as the Czech anticipated. Mrkva told him he had dropped the device, presumably putting it out of commission.

At their last meeting July 6, Opatrny said there were other offices besides Ball's where the Czechs wanted to place eavesdropping equipment.

After that, the State Department and FBI decided to make the affair public.

Surprised At Role, Man's Mother Says

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)— A Beaver Falls mother says she was surprised to learn that her son played a major role in frustrating an attempt to place listening devices in the State Department at Washington.

"He doesn't talk much about his work," said Mrs. John Mrkva of her son, Frank, a State Department employe who served as a double agent in the case.

"He is always nice and tries to do everything the best — the best for his government," said Mrs. Mrkva.

"I'm so glad he could do something for his government."

Mrs. Mrkva, a native of Czechoslovakia, said her son speaks Czechoslovak, even through he was born and raised in Beaver Falls.

A 10-year veteran with the State Department, Mrkva lives in Washington with his wife, Betty, also of Beaver Falls, and a son, Frank, 7.

Radio Club Sets Annual Jamboree

The Penova Citizens Band Radio Club will hold its fifth annual jamboree Sunday at the New Waterford Fish and Game Park at New Waterford, beginning at 9 a.m.

Games and entertainment will be provided. Lunch will be served by the Auxiliary. Picnic facilities are available.

Free round, square and polka dancing will be provided in the evening, with George Hamilton's Orchestra playing.

The event is open to the public.

Trophies will be awarded the oldest operator, the one traveling the farthest, the best band, the best square dance couple, the man with the longest beard, the largest caravan attending and the largest number of members from another club.

Richard Green is president. The club will meet July 23 at 7 p.m.

City Hospital Treats 12 In Emergencies

A woman injured in a fall and another hurt in a home mishap were admitted to City Hospital, where 10 other persons were treated Wednesday.

Mrs. Sylvia Thompson of 203 Union St. was admitted yesterday afternoon and was in "fairly good" condition today with a fractured left hip suffered in a fall Monday evening.

Mrs. Mildred Cunningham, wife of Harold Cunningham of 6th St. Rd., Newell, was "fairly good" today following surgery for a severe laceration of the left leg suffered when the headboard of a bed fell on her as she was cleaning.

Stanton Hires 5 Instructors

Five new instructors have been employed by the Stanton Local Board of Education at Irondale.

William Haught, a graduate of West Liberty State College, will teach government and American history.

John Gates, a Mt. Union College graduate, will serve as assistant instrumental director, while Shirley Cox of Kentucky will teach high school English.

Jane Trout was employed as an elementary teacher. David Murray is the new basketball coach and physical education instructor, succeeding Carl Hamill, who resigned to accept a position at Wooster.

The board has awarded a contract to the Tri - State Asphalt Co. of Martins Ferry for various paving projects at schools in the district.

Helen Ryan, math and bookkeeping instructor, has resigned as she is moving to New York.

Planes Make 85 Flights In County Tour

LISBON—Light planes made approximately 85 flights across Columbiana County Wednesday, carrying 260 passengers on a conservation tour.

Low clouds disappeared at noon and clear skies prevailed. Six planes were on the line at Loudon air strip west of New Garden and three or four were in the air most of the time until dark.

They covered a 45-mile section of the county from New Alexander east to Beaver Creek State Park and the Lake Tomahawk construction site.

Don Sickafoose of Magnolia, a flying school operator, arranged for the planes and pilots. Sponsors were the County Extension Office, Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District and the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. An air tour sponsored by the same agencies last year drew 240.

Tourists saw tree plantings, contour strips, farm ponds, waterways, reclaimed and active strip mines, orchards field tiling, open drainage, wildlife areas, state parks and the communities of New Garden, New Alexander, Winona, Guilford, Lisbon, Elkton, Clarkson, Rogers, East Fairfield, Leetonia and Franklin Square.

Boy On Bicycle Hurt When Struck By Car

An area boy was injured when struck by a car while riding his bicycle on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. about a mile and two - tenths west of the Pennsylvania state line Wednesday afternoon at 1:15.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the accident involved a car driven by Daniel W. Duncan, 49, of R. D. 3 and the bicycle operated by Gary Martin Black, 10, son of Eugene Black of Stagecoach Rd.

Both were eastbound and as the car started to pass the bicycle, the two collided, officers said. The boy was taken to City Hospital by the driver, where he was treated for injuries of the left knee and leg. No citation was issued.

The fair will extend from Carolina Ave. beyond Indiana Ave. on 4th St., it was announced. Although the Indiana Ave. intersection will be closed during the fair hours each night, it will be open to traffic during the day, it was explained.

A limited number of ride tickets are now available from firemen at a reduced price, it was announced.

Those wishing to have a stand or concession in the fair are asked to contact George Allison, general chairman, if they have not yet done so.

Prizes will be awarded each night.

Final plans for the parade on July 29 also were discussed.

Lorin Murray, a probationary member of the department, submitted his resignation last night, explaining that he is moving outside the city.

Allison, assistant chief, presided.

director of East European affairs.

Opatrny paid a $500 installment and said if the device worked, another one should be installed in Ball's office.

This was as far as the operation got. Instead of planting the device where the Czechs wanted it, Mrkva turned it over to the FBI. The FBI tested it briefly in the building and found it worked effectively, but that was its only use.

Opatrny, meanwhile, became concerned that the eavesdropping gear was not working as the Czech anticipated. Mrkva told him he had dropped the device, presumably putting it out of commission.

At their last meeting July 6, Opatrny said there were other offices besides Ball's where the Czechs wanted to place eavesdropping equipment.

After that, the State Department and FBI decided to make the affair public.

Surprised At Role, Man's Mother Says

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)— A Beaver Falls mother says she was surprised to learn that her son played a major role in frustrating an attempt to place listening devices in the State Department at Washington.

"He doesn't talk much about his work," said Mrs. John Mrkva of her son, Frank, a State Department employe who served as a double agent in the case.

"He is always nice and tries to do everything the best — the best for his government," said Mrs. Mrkva.

"I'm so glad he could do something for his government."

Mrs. Mrkva, a native of Czechoslovakia, said her son speaks Czechoslovak, even through he was born and raised in Beaver Falls.

A 10-year veteran with the State Department, Mrkva lives in Washington with his wife, Betty, also of Beaver Falls, and a son, Frank, 7.

Radio Club Sets Annual Jamboree

The Penova Citizens Band Radio Club will hold its fifth annual jamboree Sunday at the New Waterford Fish and Game Park at New Waterford, beginning at 9 a.m.

Games and entertainment will be provided. Lunch will be served by the Auxiliary. Picnic facilities are available.

Free round, square and polka dancing will be provided in the evening, with George Hamilton's Orchestra playing.

The event is open to the public.

Trophies will be awarded the oldest operator, the one traveling the farthest, the best band, the best square dance couple, the man with the longest beard, the largest caravan attending and the largest number of members from another club.

Richard Green is president. The club will meet July 23 at 7 p.m.

City Hospital Treats 12 In Emergencies

A woman injured in a fall and another hurt in a home mishap were admitted to City Hospital, where 10 other persons were treated Wednesday.

Mrs. Sylvia Thompson of 203 Union St. was admitted yesterday afternoon and was in "fairly good" condition today with a fractured left hip suffered in a fall Monday evening.

Mrs. Mildred Cunningham, wife of Harold Cunningham of 6th St. Rd., Newell, was "fairly good" today following surgery for a severe laceration of the left leg suffered when the headboard of a bed fell on her as she was cleaning.

Stanton Hires 5 Instructors

Five new instructors have been employed by the Stanton Local Board of Education at Irondale.

William Haught, a graduate of West Liberty State College, will teach government and American history.

John Gates, a Mt. Union College graduate, will serve as assistant instrumental director, while Shirley Cox of Kentucky will teach high school English.

Jane Trout was employed as an elementary teacher. David Murray is the new basketball coach and physical education instructor, succeeding Carl Hamill, who resigned to accept a position at Wooster.

The board has awarded a contract to the Tri - State Asphalt Co. of Martins Ferry for various paving projects at schools in the district.

Helen Ryan, math and bookkeeping instructor, has resigned as she is moving to New York.

Planes Make 85 Flights In County Tour

LISBON—Light planes made approximately 85 flights across Columbiana County Wednesday, carrying 260 passengers on a conservation tour.

Low clouds disappeared at noon and clear skies prevailed. Six planes were on the line at Loudon air strip west of New Garden and three or four were in the air most of the time until dark.

They covered a 45-mile section of the county from New Alexander east to Beaver Creek State Park and the Lake Tomahawk construction site.

Don Sickafoose of Magnolia, a flying school operator, arranged for the planes and pilots. Sponsors were the County Extension Office, Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District and the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. An air tour sponsored by the same agencies last year drew 240.

Tourists saw tree plantings, contour strips, farm ponds, waterways, reclaimed and active strip mines, orchards field tiling, open drainage, wildlife areas, state parks and the communities of New Garden, New Alexander, Winona, Guilford, Lisbon, Elkton, Clarkson, Rogers, East Fairfield, Leetonia and Franklin Square.

Boy On Bicycle Hurt When Struck By Car

An area boy was injured when struck by a car while riding his bicycle on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. about a mile and two - tenths west of the Pennsylvania state line Wednesday afternoon at 1:15.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the accident involved a car driven by Daniel W. Duncan, 49, of R. D. 3 and the bicycle operated by Gary Martin Black, 10, son of Eugene Black of Stagecoach Rd.

Both were eastbound and as the car started to pass the bicycle, the two collided, officers said. The boy was taken to City Hospital by the driver, where he was treated for injuries of the left knee and leg. No citation was issued.

Miss Janie B. Cunningham Marries In Church Rites

MRS. MICHAEL SMITH
Honeymoons In Florida.

A silk bombazine, sleeveless coat was born over her gown of Chantilly lace when Miss Janie B. Cunningham became the bride of Michael O. Smith the evening of July 2 at 7:30 o'clock in the Boyce Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Richard Bodinar of the Y. and O. Rd. and Kenneth Cunningham of 1939 Ohio Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shields of 513 Mulberry St.

The Rev. Paul George officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of pompons and ferns. Delphinium touched the satin bows which marked the family pews.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice of her floor - length gown was fashioned with a scalloped, Sabrina neckline, re-embroidered in seed pearls, and long, pointed sleeves. The skirt was styled in sheath effect. Scalloped Chantilly lace outlined the coat which featured a chapel sweep train.

Her bouffant, butterfly veil of imported silk illusion was elbow - length and attached to an organza tailored bow enriched with pearl circlets. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses tied with satin streamers.

In observing the traditions, she carried the handkerchief of her grandmother, Mrs. Adda Cunningham, and borrowed a six-pence from her cousin, Mrs. Donald Perkins.

Miss Brenda Mackall, as maid of honor, appeared in pink. Bridesmaids, who wore blue, were Miss Linda Fisher, Miss Susan Gongaware and Miss Connie Smith, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Tammy Perkins, cousin of the bride, also wore blue as junior bridesmaid.

Their floor - length gowns were designed with Empire bodices in white. They wore matching veils as headpieces and carried Colonial bouquets of carnations tied with satin streamers. Gifts from the bride were white rosebud, pendant necklaces and white gloves.

Richard Adams served as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Cunningham, brother of the bride, Frank McComas and Keith Broadbent. They received wallets from the bridegroom.

The buffet table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with a four - tier cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple and wedding bells. It was encircled with lily - of - the-valley, pink roses and fernery. A simulated brick wall decorated with vines and fern formed the background for the table.

The bride's table was covered with a pink cloth overlaid with white maline. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink roses and lily - of - the-valley. Favors for the bridal party were a miniature bridal party in a brandy snifter.

Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham registered guests from Belington and Junior, W. Va., Rossford, Toronto, Canfield, Warren, Louisville, Salineville, Youngstown and Midland.

For her honeymoon to Miami Beach, Fla., the bride wore a yellow print suit with matching accessories and her bridal orchid.

Her husband was graduated in 1964 from East Liverpool High School and is attending the Kent State Academic Center here. He is employed at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The newlyweds will reside in a newly - furnished trailer on the Lincoln Highway.

MRS. WILLIAM GALENO
Married At Church.

Miss Sheila Van Sickle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Sickle of Hammondsville, and William R. (Ron) Galeno, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Galeno of Campground Rd., Wellsville, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at the Hammondsville Methodist Church.

The Rev. Lloyd McQueen performed the single - ring ceremony in the presence of the families. Mr. and Mrs. James (Dickie) Householder, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

The bride wore a two - piece silver white dress with a peach neckpiece, a small white veiled hat and white accessories. She had a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls that her mother wore when she was a young girl in Scotland.

Mrs. Householder wore a green print jersey dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

All had white carnation corsages.

The bridegroom is a 1965 graduate of East Liverpool High School and a 1966 graduate of Ohio Valley Business College. The bride is a 1966 graduate of Stanton Local High School. They are residing at the home of her parents.

A reception for 100 followed on the lawn at the bride's home. The table was centered with a two - tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Those serving were Miss Leila Van Sickle, Miss Debbie Galeno, Mrs. Householder and Miss Rebecca Plunkett.

Miss Janie B. Cunningham Marries In Church Rites

MRS. MICHAEL SMITH
Honeymoons In Florida.

A silk bombazine, sleeveless coat was born over her gown of Chantilly lace when Miss Janie B. Cunningham became the bride of Michael O. Smith the evening of July 2 at 7:30 o'clock in the Boyce Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Richard Bodinar of the Y. and O. Rd. and Kenneth Cunningham of 1939 Ohio Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shields of 513 Mulberry St.

The Rev. Paul George officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of pompons and ferns. Delphinium touched the satin bows which marked the family pews.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice of her floor - length gown was fashioned with a scalloped, Sabrina neckline, re-embroidered in seed pearls, and long, pointed sleeves. The skirt was styled in sheath effect. Scalloped Chantilly lace outlined the coat which featured a chapel sweep train.

Her bouffant, butterfly veil of imported silk illusion was elbow - length and attached to an organza tailored bow enriched with pearl circlets. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses tied with satin streamers.

In observing the traditions, she carried the handkerchief of her grandmother, Mrs. Adda Cunningham, and borrowed a six-pence from her cousin, Mrs. Donald Perkins.

Miss Brenda Mackall, as maid of honor, appeared in pink. Bridesmaids, who wore blue, were Miss Linda Fisher, Miss Susan Gongaware and Miss Connie Smith, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Tammy Perkins, cousin of the bride, also wore blue as junior bridesmaid.

Their floor - length gowns were designed with Empire bodices in white. They wore matching veils as headpieces and carried Colonial bouquets of carnations tied with satin streamers. Gifts from the bride were white rosebud, pendant necklaces and white gloves.

Richard Adams served as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Cunningham, brother of the bride, Frank McComas and Keith Broadbent. They received wallets from the bridegroom.

The buffet table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with a four - tier cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple and wedding bells. It was encircled with lily - of - the-valley, pink roses and fernery. A simulated brick wall decorated with vines and fern formed the background for the table.

The bride's table was covered with a pink cloth overlaid with white maline. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink roses and lily - of - the-valley. Favors for the bridal party were a miniature bridal party in a brandy snifter.

Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham registered guests from Belington and Junior, W. Va., Rossford, Toronto, Canfield, Warren, Louisville, Salineville, Youngstown and Midland.

For her honeymoon to Miami Beach, Fla., the bride wore a yellow print suit with matching accessories and her bridal orchid.

Her husband was graduated in 1964 from East Liverpool High School and is attending the Kent State Academic Center here. He is employed at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The newlyweds will reside in a newly - furnished trailer on the Lincoln Highway.

Pre - nuptial showers were held at the homes of Mrs. Perkins, Miss Linda Fisher and Mrs. Roy Plant.

As Searing Weather Continues

Many Crops Are Dealt Heavy Blows

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Agricultural areas in a belt running from New Jersey truck farms to Kansas pasture lands are being dealt a hammer blow by the searing weather gripping much of the country.

All of Missouri and portions of Kansas, Pennsylvania and Tennessee have been declared drought disaster areas. The next 10 days are considered critical for the corn crop in the central Midwest, and New Jersey farmers face the possibility of losing much needed irrigation water.

The situation in other areas is brighter. The West has had rain recently. Most pasture and crop damage there is blamed on the late spring drought and freeze.

The extreme heat is normal for the Deep South but has caused problems in the northern Midwest by forcing early crop maturation.

Ironically, heavy rains recently have damaged crops in scattered areas of the Midwest and West.

The drought disaster requests to allow grazing and haying on federally retired land have been prompted by plights like that of farmer James Clements of Yukon, Okla., who said: "We're already being forced to feed cattle because our pastures are burning up. If it keeps up, we might have to sell the whole bunch."

Marvin McLain, chairman of the Iowa Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said hot, dry weather hasn't hurt Iowa corn yet, but "it will become critical if the heat wave lasts without rain for another 10 days."

In Illinois, Edward Meagher, chairman of the State Agricultural and Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said: "It's rapidly approaching the critical stage for corn and soybeans statewide. Some damage is occurring each day that the heat continues."

Corn has reached its crucial tasseling or pollinating stage, according to Ron Johnson of the Kansas City Board of Trade. "This hot, scorching weather tends to cook the pollen and the ears consequently have fewer or no kernels," he said.

Rain could reverse dreary prospects, except for hay, which seems damaged beyond saving.

"If we could get moisture and a break in the heat soon, most corn and sorghums should come out of it," said J. E. Pallesen, head of the Kansas Federal State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

James White, chairman of the Pennsylvania-U.S. Department of Agricultural Disaster Committee, reported 28 counties in his state are suffering an acute hay shortage with crops generally under 50 per cent of normal and not expected to come back even with rain.

Unless there is rain in the next few days in New Jersey, many crop farmers will have no irrigation water, according to William C. Latourette, general manager of the Garden State Cooperative.

Virtually all field crops in Virginia are beginning to suffer badly and will reach the critical stage shortly.

Some Wisconsin farmers, on the other hand, report that the heat, coupled with adequate moisture, caused oats, winter wheat and rye to mature too fast for good weight development.

Storm damage this week to corn and burley tobacco in central Kentucky amounted to $2 million and heavy rains Tuesday battered oat and wheat crops in Huron and Erie Counties, Ohio.

Inspections Set On School Buses

Lisbon — State Highway Patrol Post 15 at Lisbon is preparing a schedule to inspect all Columbiana County school buses in a five - day period at one location.

Columbiana County Fair directors Wednesday night gave the patrol permission to use the racetrack infield Monday through Friday, Aug. 15-20.

Cpl. Howard Reinke and Patrolman John Van Horne will be in charge of inspections. They said superintendents of the various school systems will be advised within a few days when their buses will be inspected.

Under the August inspection plan, buses will have the patrol's okay before school begins. Even buses found defective can be repaired and re-inspected in time for the first day, the patrol pointed out.

Bus inspections were held previously after school started.

2 County Youths Compete In Event

LISBON — Karen Frank of Columbiana and Ted Gilmer of 971 Newgarden St., Salem, were among 23 contestants in the northeast Ohio 4-H safety speaking contest Wednesday at the Ohio Farmers Insurance Co. auditorium in LeRoy.

Carol Keith of Stark County and Candy Carlisle of Wayne County placed first and second in the girls' division.

Donald Kettering of Ashland County won the boys' division and Steve Schwarzwalder of Wayne County was second.

Karen and Ted won the Columbiana County contest July 5. Karen Ruggles, 4-H assistant in the County Extension Office, accompanied them to LeRoy. The insurance firm entertained contestants with tours and a banquet.

Area Girl Makes Parachute Jump

LISBON — Debbie Hill, 16, of Pritchard Ave., Lisbon, made her first parachute jump Wednesday night over Loudon's air strip west of New Garden.

Her father, Jay Hill, and a group of youngsters ran through the hay to escort her back to the spectators in front of the Loudon homestead.

A junior at Lisbon High School, Debbie said she has been waiting to jump for two years and finally got permission yesterday. Her father jumps with the Alliance Sky Divers Club, which put on an exhibition last evening during the conservation air tour.

Plans Are Advanced For '41 Class Event

Plans were advanced for the reunion of the 1941 class of East Liverpool High School during a committee meeting Tuesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. building.

The event will be Aug. 27 at IBOP headquarters on Route 7, beginning at 7 p.m.

Jack Allison and Gerry Moore, co - chairmen of the reservation committee, reported that to date there are 102 reservations. Persons knowing the location of any class member are to contact Don Hancock.

Dick Kidder reported that music will be provided by Ruth McKinsey's orchestra.

Officials Buy Curb Meters For New Lot

The Board of Control, comprised of Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, has awarded a contract to the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh to supply 75 automatic - type parking meters for use on the new Ceramic Annex lot.

The contract was let on the basis of competitive bids opened on July 5, the officials explained. Rockwell quoted a net price of $49.75 per meter. Its gross quotation was $59 per unit, less an $8.25 discount.

The discount applies if the purchase price is paid within 30 days. The company has promised to ship the meters the week of July 25, Vodrey said.

The Koontz Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh, distributor of the Duncan Parking Meter, submitted the only other offer to the city. It quoted a price of $60.50 for its manual type meters. No trade-ins of old meters were involved in the July 5 bid opening, Vodrey explained.

Earlier, Koontz received a contract to furnish 503 new manual meters for use in on-street spots. Its net price then was $50.50, which included a $10 trade-in on each unit.

Rockwell has agreed to furnish labor to alter about 35 of its meters now in use here to accept tokens which stores in the East Liverpool Merchants Association will distribute to their customers, Vodrey said. The work will be done without charge.

The 503 new meters already are geared to accept the tokens, which are a little larger than a nickle and a little smaller than a quarter. Koontz will alter the rest of the existing meters to accept the tokens.

The officials also opened bids July 5 on a new pickup truck for the incinerator department. The offers still are under study, they said.

Graham Returns From Meeting

Robert Graham, president of Graham & Wagner, Inc., of 302 Washington St., has returned home after attending the meeting of the American Institute of Commemorative Art at Duluth, Minn.

The institute's primary objective is "to help the American people to express in public and private memorials the culture, the life and history of our present day."

Membership is limited to 50 members from all parts of the U.S. The institute is the only organization of its kind in the monument field that is concerned with the improvement of the art in the industry and profession.

4-H News

The Seneca 4-H Club met Monday night at Crestview Park on West Virginia Route 66.

A picnic was followed by a vesper service, with Barbara Childers in charge. She was assisted by Mary Connor, Juanita Boyd, Bonnie Geer, Linda Dunlevy and Karen Childers.

Roger Boyd and Bill Criswell reported on the conservation camp, Cathy and Francis Summers on the 4-H camp and Roy Cawthon on Boys State camp.

Judy Summers discussed posture and the removal of stains; Peggy Geer presented a ventriloquist skit. Cathy Summers demonstrated how to introduce a new food to a child, and Francis Summers demonstrated how to display hobbies.

Prior to adjournment, Roy Cawthon entertained the group with several guitar selections.

The No. 16 Agricultural 4-H Club of Wellsville met Monday night at the home of Martha Serafy.

Paul Boyd called the meeting to order. Dallas Glover led devotions and Martha Serafy conducted roll call.

Plans were made for entering a booth in the county fair.

Fortune Glover demonstrated the tying knots.

Inmate Of Pen Appeals In Action By Buzzard

LISBON — An Ohio Penitentiary inmate is appealing to the Seventh District Court of Appeals because Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Columbiana County Common Pleas Court would not vacate his sentence for armed robbery.

The clerk of courts office received notice of appeal Wednesday from Wayne L. Starr, 34, formerly of Philadelphia, serving 10 to 25 years on conviction of a $27 armed robbery of a Pennsylvania Railroad station agent Jan. 20, 1959, in Salem.

The April 1959 grand jury indicted Starr on charges of armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

When a jury convicted him of armed robbery June 23, 1959, he pleaded guilty to the concealed weapon charge and asked for immediate sentence. A 1-to-3-year sentence on the weapon count was made concurrent with the robbery sentence.

In the petition for post-conviction relief Starr filed last month, he said he was held in the County Jail for three months before being indicted and without being formally charged; he was not given a preliminary hearing on either charge; he was not informed of his rights; he was held without ever seeing counsel, and was searched illegally.

Judge Buzzard studied the record several days, was unable to find the defendant's rights were violated and denied his petition to have the sentence set aside.

As Searing Weather Continues

Many Crops Are Dealt Heavy Blows

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Agricultural areas in a belt running from New Jersey truck farms to Kansas pasture lands are being dealt a hammer blow by the searing weather gripping much of the country.

All of Missouri and portions of Kansas, Pennsylvania and Tennessee have been declared drought disaster areas. The next 10 days are considered critical for the corn crop in the central Midwest, and New Jersey farmers face the possibility of losing much needed irrigation water.

The situation in other areas is brighter. The West has had rain recently. Most pasture and crop damage there is blamed on the late spring drought and freeze.

The extreme heat is normal for the Deep South but has caused problems in the northern Midwest by forcing early crop maturation.

Ironically, heavy rains recently have damaged crops in scattered areas of the Midwest and West.

The drought disaster requests to allow grazing and haying on federally retired land have been prompted by plights like that of farmer James Clements of Yukon, Okla., who said: "We're already being forced to feed cattle because our pastures are burning up. If it keeps up, we might have to sell the whole bunch."

Marvin McLain, chairman of the Iowa Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said hot, dry weather hasn't hurt Iowa corn yet, but "it will become critical if the heat wave lasts without rain for another 10 days."

In Illinois, Edward Meagher, chairman of the State Agricultural and Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said: "It's rapidly approaching the critical stage for corn and soybeans statewide. Some damage is occurring each day that the heat continues."

Corn has reached its crucial tasseling or pollinating stage, according to Ron Johnson of the Kansas City Board of Trade. "This hot, scorching weather tends to cook the pollen and the ears consequently have fewer or no kernels," he said.

Rain could reverse dreary prospects, except for hay, which seems damaged beyond saving.

"If we could get moisture and a break in the heat soon, most corn and sorghums should come out of it," said J. E. Pallesen, head of the Kansas Federal State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

James White, chairman of the Pennsylvania-U.S. Department of Agricultural Disaster Committee, reported 28 counties in his state are suffering an acute hay shortage with crops generally under 50 per cent of normal and not expected to come back even with rain.

Unless there is rain in the next few days in New Jersey, many crop farmers will have no irrigation water, according to William C. Latourette, general manager of the Garden State Cooperative.

Virtually all field crops in Virginia are beginning to suffer badly and will reach the critical stage shortly.

Some Wisconsin farmers, on the other hand, report that the heat, coupled with adequate moisture, caused oats, winter wheat and rye to mature too fast for good weight development.

Storm damage this week to corn and burley tobacco in central Kentucky amounted to $2 million and heavy rains Tuesday battered oat and wheat crops in Huron and Erie Counties, Ohio.

Inspections Set On School Buses

Lisbon — State Highway Patrol Post 15 at Lisbon is preparing a schedule to inspect all Columbiana County school buses in a five - day period at one location.

Columbiana County Fair directors Wednesday night gave the patrol permission to use the racetrack infield Monday through Friday, Aug. 15-20.

Cpl. Howard Reinke and Patrolman John Van Horne will be in charge of inspections. They said superintendents of the various school systems will be advised within a few days when their buses will be inspected.

Under the August inspection plan, buses will have the patrol's okay before school begins. Even buses found defective can be repaired and reinspected in time for the first day, the patrol pointed out.

Bus inspections were held previously after school started.

2 County Youths Compete In Event

LISBON — Karen Frank of Columbiana and Ted Gilmer of 971 Newgarden St., Salem, were among 23 contestants in the northeast Ohio 4-H safety speaking contest Wednesday at the Ohio Farmers Insurance Co. auditorium in LeRoy.

Carol Keith of Stark County and Candy Carlisle of Wayne County placed first and second in the girls' division.

Karen and Ted won the Columbiana County contest July 5. Karen Ruggles, 4-H assistant in the County Extension Office, accompanied them to LeRoy. The insurance firm entertained contestants with tours and a banquet.

Area Girl Makes Parachute Jump

LISBON — Debbie Hill, 16, of Pritchard Ave., Lisbon, made her first parachute jump Wednesday night over Loudon's air strip west of New Garden.

Her father, Jay Hill, and a group of youngsters ran through the hay to escort her back to the spectators in front of the Loudon homestead.

A junior at Lisbon High School, Debbie said she has been waiting to jump for two years and finally got permission yesterday. Her father jumps with the Alliance Sky Divers Club, which put on an exhibition last evening during the conservation air tour.

Plans Are Advanced For '41 Class Event

Plans were advanced for the reunion of the 1941 class of East Liverpool High School during a committee meeting Tuesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. building.

The event will be Aug. 27 at IBOP headquarters on Route 7, beginning at 7 p.m.

Jack Allison and Gerry Moore, co - chairmen of the reservation committee, reported that to date there are 102 reservations. Persons knowing the location of any class member are to contact Don Hancock.

Dick Kidder reported that music will be provided by Ruth McKinsey's orchestra.

Officials Buy Curb Meters For New Lot

The Board of Control, comprised of Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, has awarded a contract to the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh to supply 75 automatic - type parking meters for use on the new Ceramic Annex lot.

The contract was let on the basis of competitive bids opened on July 5, the officials explained. Rockwell quoted a net price of $49.75 per meter. Its gross quotation was $59 per unit, less an $8.25 discount.

The discount applies if the purchase price is paid within 30 days. The company has promised to ship the meters the week of July 25, Vodrey said.

The Koontz Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh, distributor of the Duncan Parking Meter, submitted the only other offer to the city. It quoted a price of $60.50 for its manual type meters. No trade-ins of old meters were involved in the July 5 bid opening, Vodrey explained.

Earlier, Koontz received a contract to furnish 503 new manual meters for use in on-street spots. Its net price then was $50.50, which included a $10 trade-in on each unit.

Rockwell has agreed to furnish labor to alter about 35 of its meters now in use here to accept tokens which stores in the East Liverpool Merchants Association will distribute to their customers, Vodrey said. The work will be done without charge.

The 503 new meters already are geared to accept the tokens, which are a little larger than a nickle and a little smaller than a quarter. Koontz will alter the rest of the existing meters to accept the tokens.

The officials also opened bids July 5 on a new pickup truck for the incinerator department. The offers still are under study, they said.

Graham Returns From Meeting

Robert Graham, president of Graham & Wagner, Inc., of 302 Washington St., has returned home after attending the meeting of the American Institute of Commemorative Art at Duluth, Minn.

The institute's primary objective is "to help the American people to express in public and private memorials the culture, the life and history of our present day."

Membership is limited to 50 members from all parts of the U.S. The institute is the only organization of its kind in the monument field that is concerned with the improvement of the art in the industry and profession.

4-H News

The Seneca 4-H Club met Monday night at Crestview Park on West Virginia Route 66.

A picnic was followed by a vesper service, with Barbara Childers in charge. She was assisted by Mary Connor, Juanita Boyd, Bonnie Geer, Linda Dunlevy and Karen Childers.

Roger Boyd and Bill Criswell reported on the conservation camp, Cathy and Francis Summers on the 4-H camp and Roy Cawthon on Boys State camp.

Judy Summers discussed posture and the removal of stains; Peggy Geer presented a ventriloquist skit. Cathy Summers demonstrated how to introduce a new food to a child, and Francis Summers demonstrated how to display hobbies.

Prior to adjournment, Roy Cawthon entertained the group with several guitar selections.

The No. 16 Agricultural 4-H Club of Wellsville met Monday night at the home of Martha Serafy.

Paul Boyd called the meeting to order. Dallas Glover led devotions and Martha Serafy conducted roll call.

Plans were made for entering a booth in the county fair.

Fortune Glover demonstrated the tying knots.

Inmate Of Pen Appeals In Action By Buzzard

LISBON — An Ohio Penitentiary inmate is appealing to the Seventh District Court of Appeals because Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Columbiana County Common Pleas Court would not vacate his sentence for armed robbery.

The clerk of courts office received notice of appeal Wednesday from Wayne L. Starr, 34, formerly of Philadelphia, serving 10 to 25 years on conviction of a $27 armed robbery of a Pennsylvania Railroad station agent Jan. 20, 1959, in Salem.

When a jury convicted him of armed robbery June 23, 1959, he pleaded guilty to the concealed weapon charge and asked for immediate sentence. A 1-to-3-year sentence on the weapon count was made concurrent with the robbery sentence.

May Get Fewer Votes Than Last Year

U.N. Seat Unlikely For Red China

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite all the talk about inviting Communist China into the United Nations, the General Assembly is unlikely to do that this fall and may give it even fewer votes than last year.

Various U.S. scholars favor Red China's admission, but not enough U.N. members are for it to make it come to pass.

Delegates estimate that in next fall's General Assembly a resolution to oust the Chinese Nationalists and seat the Chinese Communists will get several fewer votes than it did in last fall's assembly.

That last resolution failed Nov. 17 on a 47-47 tie vote, with 20 nations abstaining. That was not so close as it looks because the assembly had decided it would take a two-thirds vote — not just a simple majority — to change Chinas in the United Nations.

Nine of the 11 countries that put the question before the last assembly already are talking about how to handle it in the next one starting Sept. 20. Algeria and Cambodia have drawn up a memorandum setting forth their case.

One of the diplomats involved in those talks expects that Communist China will get one or two fewer votes this year than it did last.

A U.S. delegate makes the same guess, though he adds that it is really too early to tell.

Ambassador Hsueh Yu-chi of Nationalist China told a reporter: "There will be six or seven more votes against the admission of the Chinese Communists."

Hsueh cited as some of the reasons why the Communists had lost votes: his own government had won friends away from them; some African countries had caught them redhanded at subversion; and sudden changes in government had brought some changes in Red Chinese policy.

As far back as March 28, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg remarked: "I would say right at the moment that there are fewer votes for admission of Red China to the United Nations than there were at the last assembly." The following month U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said indications were that the question of the Chinese seat "will not be solved in the coming 21st session of the General Assembly."

Nevertheless, the issue will be argued out along familiar lines.

Among the arguments for seating Communist China are: 1. She is entitled to it. 2. Without her the United Nations is not "universal." 3. Some 690 million Chinese lack representation here. 4. Such world problems as disarmament and the war in Viet Nam cannot be settled without Peking.

Among the arguments against seating Red China are: 1. She is not entitled to it because the U.N. Charter says the United Nations is for peace-loving countries only. 2. She does not represent the Chinese people because they look to the Republic of China on Formosa. 3. She is so hostile to the United Nations that she would only obstruct settlements. 4. This open hostility shows a lack of interest in coming here.

The Republic of China is a charter member of the 21-year-old United Nations. Its government fled to Formosa in 1949 when the Communists established the People's Republic of China on the mainland.

3rd St. Crash Hurts Man, 46

A 46-year-old California man was injured early today when his 1966 sedan plowed into the rear of a parked car on E. 3rd St. 100 feet west of Broadway, police reported.

Robert Lee Montgomery of Santa Rosa told officers his attention was distracted momentarily as he returned a cigarette lighter to its socket in the dashboard. When he took his eyes off the street, his car veered to the right and struck the parked 1951 two - door sedan of Richard L. Beckwith of 216 Cherry Ln., Montgomery said.

Montgomery was treated at City Hospital for lacerations of the upper lip.

Patrolman Ronald J. Brookes investigated the crash, timed at 2:49 a.m. There was damage to the right front fender and bumper of Montgomery's car and the left rear, fender, trunk and bumper of Beckwith's auto, officers said.

Meanwhile, William B. Ferguson of 321 W. 3rd St. filed a report Wednesday on a collision Monday at the dead-end of W. 3rd St. that damaged his parked 1959 model car and three sections of city - owned guardrails.

Ferguson said he discovered damage to the left front fender of his auto Wednesday morning. He said he learned his auto was hit by a truck operated by John J. Ruskino of Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

The trucker left his name and address with a nearby resident after he was unable to locate the owner of the damaged car, Ferguson explained.

County Reports New Case Of TB

LISBON — One new case of tuberculosis was reported by the Columbiana County Tuberculosis Control Clinic in June.

The clinic, on the third floor of the Courthouse, gave 153 Mantoux tuberculin tests and took 89 chest X-rays last month. Nurses made 69 home calls and there were seven consultations between patients and Dr. F. G. Kravec of Youngstown, clinic director.

Two patients were admitted to TB hospitals and there was one discharge. The county has 14 patients in hospitals — nine at county expense. Seven are in the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital at Columbus, four in veterans' hospitals, two in Molly Stark near Canton and one in the Mahoning County sanatorium.

Six of the hospital cases are comprised of the villages and rural areas; four from Salem, three from East Liverpool, and one from Wellsville.

The county has 151 TB patients on medication at home.

Ohio Court Upholds 'Obscene' Conviction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The conviction of a Cincinnati newsstand operator on charges of handling obscene literature was unanimously upheld by the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday.

Police arrested the operator, Louis Mazes, Nov. 7, 1962, and seized copies of a paperback book titled "Orgy Club" that were on display at his newsstand.

The court said it found material in the book "obscene viewed from any standpoint," and added, "The material is utterly without redeeming social value."

'Drowning' Ruled

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Allegheny County coroner's office has blamed drowning for the death of Louis Schroettel, about 40, of Gibsonia, whose body was found Wednesday in the Allegheny River in Pittsburgh.

'Kids Krusade' Slated

For the second year in a row, Mrs. Nyla Richards of Canton will conduct a "Kids Krusade" at the Monroeville Assembly of God Church, near Salineville.

Because of the large enrollment last year, two weeks will be used for the "Krusade" this year — July 18-22 for ages 3-7 and July 25-29, ages 7 to 14. The sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. and conclude at 8. A feature of the meetings will be the crowning of a king and queen each week.

Mrs. Richards, who is known as "Aunt Nyla," will use puppets in her work. She is also a story - teller and musician. Assisting, will be her daughters, Becky and Cindy, who have achieved recognition for vocal solo work.

Children of the area are invited to attend the meetings, the Rev. Monte May said.

Committee In West Virginia Will Hold Educational Study

CHARLESTON (AP) — A study of the state's educational needs — from kindergarten through adult education — will be undertaken by a newly-formed committee of the West Virginia Education Association.

The WVEA announcement today said the committee will be headed by B. G. Pauley, superintendent of Marion County Schools. The committee will attempt to establish a comprehensive plan for educational improvement.

The study is expected to take two or three years, but part of the improvement program possibly may be presented to the 1969 legislature.

The study will point up needed improvements in each of the 55 county school systems, each of the colleges and universities and each of the private and parochial schools and institutions of higher education.

Other committee members are Rex Smith, state superintendent of schools; Dr. Marshall Buckalew, president of Morris Harvey College; Dr. Lawrence Derthick Jr., of the Kanawha County schools; Dr. Joseph Marsh, president of Concord College; Elizabeth Anne Meek of Wheeling; George S. Mullett of New Martinsville, and Dallas Sullivan of Vienna.

Suspensions Set For 4 Drivers In Traffic Hearings

License suspensions were ordered for John D. Roberts, 17, of 1293 Carole Dr., Salem, 50 days; James W. Baker, 17, Columbiana, and Don E. Seacrist, 17, Alliance, 15 days each, and Richard Rowley, 16, of 220 W. 3rd St., East Liverpool, 10 days.

Fined were Rex E. Mays, 15, East Liverpool R. D. 2, no operator's license, $15; Warren J. Williams, 16, P. O. Box 202, East Liverpool, speeding, $12, and Harold C. Wilson, 17, Salem R. D. 4, passing over yellow line in hazardous zone, $10.

John K. Frederick, 16, of 1711 Holliday St., East Liverpool, received a warning on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle.

The first college in the United States which conferred degrees on women was Oberlin (Ohio) College in 1841.

West End Youth Cited For Theft At Market

A West End youth is scheduled to appear Friday before a county juvenile officer at City Hall on a charge he stole six candy bars Wednesday afternoon at the A. & P. Supermarket on Walnut St., police reported.

The Lisbon St. boy was nabbed about 4:52 p.m. yesterday by Howard Morgan, co-manager, as he attempted to walk out the door of the store with six chocolate bars in his pocket, officers said.

Patrolman Karl W. Samples said he was dispatched to the market on a report a shoplifter was in custody. He found Morgan had apprehended the youth.

Public and private expenditures for medical and health-related research approximated $1.85 billion last year. Federal funds accounted for $1.8 billion and $669 million came from non-federal sources.

Lisbon Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wolfe of Orlando, Fla., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Bernice Wilson of Leetonia, and his father, Harry Wolfe of N. Market St., and other local relatives and friends. The Wolfes were former Lisbon residents, having owned the Court Restaurant.

Airman 3C James Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Conn of Pleasant Heights, is spending a 28-day leave at his home. He is a 1964 graduate of David Anderson High School, attended Kent State University and enlisted in the Air Force last March. He is presently stationed at Chanute Air Force base, Rantoul, Ill.

Mt. Nebo Grange Presented 'Tray'

LISBON — Seventy attended the Mt. Nebo Grange meeting Wednesday night when Mile Branch Grange presented the "traveling tray." Six other granges were represented in the audience.

Lecturer Norman Barnett of Mile Branch presented a program on "Summertime." It included group singing; readings, Mrs. Ruby Allison and Mrs. Norman Barnett; accordion solo, Bonnie Schoeni; skit, three members of the Donald Lane family, and a tableau, with Shirley Baum as reader and Robert Christen as soloist. Mrs. Barnett played the piano for all musical numbers.

Mt. Nebo members voted on a delegate and alternate to the state grange convention Oct. 23-26 at Cincinnati. Election results will be announced later by the state grange office.

Columbiana County Youth Grange will hold a banquet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Mt. Nebo, with Harry Cook of North Bloomfield, state overseer, guest speaker. A king and queen will be crowned.

Women of Mt. Nebo served refreshments.

May Get Fewer Votes Than Last Year

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite all the talk about inviting Communist China into the United Nations, the General Assembly is unlikely to do that this fall and may give it even fewer votes than last year.

Various U.S. scholars favor Red China's admission, but not enough U.N. members are for it to make it come to pass.

Delegates estimate that in next fall's General Assembly a resolution to oust the Chinese Nationalists and seat the Chinese Communists will get several fewer votes than it did in last fall's assembly.

That last resolution failed Nov. 17 on a 47-47 tie vote, with 20 nations abstaining. That was not so close as it looks because the assembly had decided it would take a two-thirds vote — not just a simple majority — to change Chinas in the United Nations.

Nine of the 11 countries that put the question before the last assembly already are talking about how to handle it in the next one starting Sept. 20. Algeria and Cambodia have drawn up a memorandum setting forth their case.

One of the diplomats involved in those talks expects that Communist China will get one or two fewer votes this year than it did last.

A U.S. delegate makes the same guess, though he adds that it is really too early to tell.

Ambassador Hsueh Yu-chi of Nationalist China told a reporter: "There will be six or seven more votes against the admission of the Chinese Communists."

Hsueh cited as some of the reasons why the Communists had lost votes: his own government had won friends away from them; some African countries had caught them redhanded at subversion; and sudden changes in government had brought some changes in Red Chinese policy.

As far back as March 28, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg remarked: "I would say right at the moment that there are fewer votes for admission of Red China to the United Nations than there were at the last assembly." The following month U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said indications were that the question of the Chinese seat "will not be solved in the coming 21st session of the General Assembly."

Nevertheless, the issue will be argued out along familiar lines.

Among the arguments for seating Communist China are: 1. She is entitled to it. 2. Without her the United Nations is not "universal." 3. Some 690 million Chinese lack representation here. 4. Such world problems as disarmament and the war in Viet Nam cannot be settled without Peking.

Among the arguments against seating Red China are: 1. She is not entitled to it because the U.N. Charter says the United Nations is for peace-loving countries only. 2. She does not represent the Chinese people because they look to the Republic of China on Formosa. 3. She is so hostile to the United Nations that she would only obstruct settlements. 4. This open hostility shows a lack of interest in coming here.

The Republic of China is a charter member of the 21-year-old United Nations. Its government fled to Formosa in 1949 when the Communists established the People's Republic of China on the mainland.

3rd St. Crash Hurts Man, 46

A 46-year-old California man was injured early today when his 1966 sedan plowed into the rear of a parked car on E. 3rd St. 100 feet west of Broadway, police reported.

Robert Lee Montgomery of Santa Rosa told officers his attention was distracted momentarily as he returned a cigarette lighter to its socket in the dashboard. When he took his eyes off the street, his car veered to the right and struck the parked 1951 two - door sedan of Richard L. Beckwith of 216 Cherry Ln., Montgomery said.

Montgomery was treated at City Hospital for lacerations of the upper lip.

Patrolman Ronald J. Brookes investigated the crash, timed at 2:49 a.m. There was damage to the right front fender and bumper of Montgomery's car and the left rear, fender, trunk and bumper of Beckwith's auto, officers said.

Meanwhile, William B. Ferguson of 321 W. 3rd St. filed a report Wednesday on a collision Monday at the dead-end of W. 3rd St. that damaged his parked 1959 model car and three sections of city - owned guardrails.

Ferguson said he discovered damage to the left front fender of his auto Wednesday morning. He said he learned his auto was hit by a truck operated by John J. Ruskino of Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

The trucker left his name and address with a nearby resident after he was unable to locate the owner of the damaged car, Ferguson explained.

County Reports New Case Of TB

LISBON — One new case of tuberculosis was reported by the Columbiana County Tuberculosis Control Clinic in June.

The clinic, on the third floor of the Courthouse, gave 153 Mantoux tuberculin tests and took 89 chest X-rays last month. Nurses made 69 home calls and there were seven consultations between patients and Dr. F. G. Kravec of Youngstown, clinic director.

Two patients were admitted to TB hospitals and there was one discharge. The county has 14 patients in hospitals — nine at county expense. Seven are in the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital at Columbus, four in veterans' hospitals, two in Molly Stark near Canton and one in the Mahoning County sanatorium.

Six of the hospital cases are comprised of the villages and rural areas; four from Salem, three from East Liverpool, and one from Wellsville.

The county has 151 TB patients on medication at home.

Ohio Court Upholds 'Obscene' Conviction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The conviction of a Cincinnati newsstand operator on charges of handling obscene literature was unanimously upheld by the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday.

Police arrested the operator, Louis Mazes, Nov. 7, 1962, and seized copies of a paperback book titled "Orgy Club" that were on display at his newsstand.

The court said it found material in the book "obscene viewed from any standpoint," and added, "The material is utterly without redeeming social value."

'Drowning' Ruled

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Allegheny County coroner's office has blamed drowning for the death of Louis Schroettel, about 40, of Gibsonia, whose body was found Wednesday in the Allegheny River in Pittsburgh.

'Kids Krusade' Slated

For the second year in a row, Mrs. Nyla Richards of Canton will conduct a "Kids Krusade" at the Monroeville Assembly of God Church, near Salineville.

Because of the large enrollment last year, two weeks will be used for the "Krusade" this year — July 18-22 for ages 3-7 and July 25-29, ages 7 to 14. The sessions will begin at 6:30 p.m. and conclude at 8. A feature of the meetings will be the crowning of a king and queen each week.

Mrs. Richards, who is known as "Aunt Nyla," will use puppets in her work. She is also a story - teller and musician. Assisting, will be her daughters, Becky and Cindy, who have achieved recognition for vocal solo work.

Children of the area are invited to attend the meetings, the Rev. Monte May said.

Committee In West Virginia Will Hold Educational Study

CHARLESTON (AP) — A study of the state's educational needs — from kindergarten through adult education — will be undertaken by a newly-formed committee of the West Virginia Education Association.

The WVEA announcement today said the committee will be headed by B. G. Pauley, superintendent of Marion County Schools. The committee will attempt to establish a comprehensive plan for educational improvement.

The study is expected to take two or three years, but part of the improvement program possibly may be presented to the 1969 legislature.

The study will point up needed improvements in each of the 55 county school systems, each of the colleges and universities and each of the private and parochial schools and institutions of higher education.

Other committee members are Rex Smith, state superintendent of schools; Dr. Marshall Buckalew, president of Morris Harvey College; Dr. Lawrence Derthick Jr., of the Kanawha County schools; Dr. Joseph Marsh, president of Concord College; Elizabeth Anne Meek of Wheeling; George S. Mullett of New Martinsville, and Dallas Sullivan of Vienna.

Suspensions Set For 4 Drivers In Traffic Hearings

License suspensions were ordered for John D. Roberts, 17, of 1293 Carole Dr., Salem, 50 days; James W. Baker, 17, Columbiana, and Don E. Seacrist, 17, Alliance, 15 days each, and Richard Rowley, 16, of 220 W. 3rd St., East Liverpool, 10 days.

Fined were Rex E. Mays, 15, East Liverpool R. D. 2, no operator's license, $15; Warren J. Williams, 16, P. O. Box 202, East Liverpool, speeding, $12, and Harold C. Wilson, 17, Salem R. D. 4, passing over yellow line in hazardous zone, $10.

Jay B. Welch, 15, Santa Fe Springs, Calif., charged with no operator's license, forfeited a $25 appearance bond.

John K. Frederick, 16, of 1711 Holliday St., East Liverpool, received a warning on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle.

The first college in the United States which conferred degrees on women was Oberlin (Ohio) College in 1841.

West End Youth Cited For Theft At Market

A West End youth is scheduled to appear Friday before a county juvenile officer at City Hall on a charge he stole six candy bars Wednesday afternoon at the A. & P. Supermarket on Walnut St., police reported.

The Lisbon St. boy was nabbed about 4:52 p.m. yesterday by Howard Morgan, co-manager, as he attempted to walk out the door of the store with six chocolate bars in his pocket, officers said.

Patrolman Karl W. Samples said he was dispatched to the market on a report a shoplifter was in custody. He found Morgan had apprehended the youth.

Public and private expenditures for medical and health-related research approximated $1.85 billion last year. Federal funds accounted for $1.8 billion and $669 million came from non-federal sources.

Lisbon Group Has Meeting

LISBON — Mrs. Steve Chengelis, Miss Katherine Senanefes and Mrs. Thomas Senanefes were guests of the ONO Club when it met at the new country home of Mrs. Charles Senanefes of the Fairfield Rd. Tuesday night.

Prizes for Tripoli were awarded Mrs. Allen Dickey and Mrs. Chengelis.

Lisbon Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wolfe of Orlando, Fla., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Bernice Wilson of Leetonia, and his father, Harry Wolfe of N. Market St., and other local relatives and friends. The Wolfes were former Lisbon residents, having owned the Court Restaurant.

Airman 3C James Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Conn of Pleasant Heights, is spending a 28-day leave at his home. He is a 1964 graduate of David Anderson High School, attended Kent State University and enlisted in the Air Force last March. He is presently stationed at Chanute Air Force base, Rantoul, Ill.

Mt. Nebo Grange Presented 'Tray'

LISBON — Seventy attended the Mt. Nebo Grange meeting Wednesday night when Mile Branch Grange presented the "traveling tray." Six other granges were represented in the audience.

Lecturer Norman Barnett of Mile Branch presented a program on "Summertime." It included group singing; readings, Mrs. Ruby Allison and Mrs. Norman Barnett; accordion solo, Bonnie Schoeni; skit, three members of the Donald Lane family, and a tableau, with Shirley Baum as reader and Robert Christen as soloist. Mrs. Barnett played the piano for all musical numbers.

Mt. Nebo members voted on a delegate and alternate to the state grange convention Oct. 23-26 at Cincinnati. Election results will be announced later by the state grange office.

Columbiana County Youth Grange will hold a banquet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Mt. Nebo, with Harry Cook of North Bloomfield, state overseer, guest speaker. A king and queen will be crowned.

Women of Mt. Nebo served refreshments.

Between Thanksgiving And Christmas

Frank And Mia Will Wed

NEW YORK (AP) — It's official. Frank Sinatra and Mia Farrow are engaged and they'll be wed sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The engagement was announced Wednesday by the mother of the bride-to-be, actress Maureen O'Sullivan.

"I couldn't be more delighted," the mother said. "Frank is a wonderful person and I know they'll be very happy together."

Sinatra, 50, was causing teenage girls to swoon as he sang with the bands of Harry James and Tommy Dorsey some years before his 21-year-old bride was born. He has a son and a daughter older than Miss Farrow.

The age difference doesn't matter, Miss O'Sullivan said.

"I know people who are antiques at 35 and others who can watusi at 70. Frank has always been absolutely sweet when I've seen him."

Mia, who has been seeing Sinatra for two years, has said, "I feel more at ease with Frank than with any boy my own age."

Neither Sinatra nor Miss Farrow had any public comment on the engagement. He is in London, making the movie "The Naked Runner." She is on a shopping trip in New York and will return soon to Hollywood and her starring role in television's "Peyton Place," her mother said.

In 1962 Sinatra gave a similar ring—this one of 10 carats—to Juliet Prowse, 25, a dancer. But the engagement ended six weeks later, reportedly because she insisted on continuing her career.

Miss Farrow will not give up her career, it was announced.

Sinatra has been married twice. His first wife was Nancy Barbato, mother of all three Sinatra children, two of whom are in show business.

Frank Jr., 22, sings in night clubs and with bands. Nancy Sinatra, 26, also sings. Her recording of "These Boots Were Made For Walkin'" became the nation's top hit earlier this year.

Sinatra's first marriage ended in 1951, when he wed actress Ava Gardner. They were divorced in 1957.

Miss Farrow has not been married.

Sinatra, who has branched into varied entertainment activities, is estimated to gross $4 million to $6 million a year from his enterprises.

Miss Farrow was the third of seven children of Miss O'Sullivan and the late movie director John Farrow.

Boy Bicyclist Hurt When Struck By Car

EAST PALESTINE — Mark Sodergren, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sodergren of 318 E. Clark St., was injured when struck by a car near his home Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Police said he rode his bicycle from an alley into the path of a westbound car operated by Naida Fearn, 35, of 143 E. Carolina Ave., Sebring.

By WILBUR MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administrations $3.3-billion multiyear foreign aid authorization bill has sailed through its first House test but opponents vowed to try again today to slash both time and money from the measure.

The House voted down 122 to 86 Wednesday night an amendment to cut the two-year authorization to a single year. Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Calif., author of the rejected amendment, later declared: "I'm sure somebody else will try again today. If they don't," he added, "I just might."

A final vote is expected late today. Voting on amendments started Wednesday after two days of debate.

Opponents of the two-year measure argued that a constant review is needed of the aid program in light of changing, critical world times.

Supporters backed the administration's contention that the longer period is needed for planning and to give confidence to underdeveloped nations.

The nine-section measure would authorize funds for development loans, technical assistance, housing, international organizations, supporting assistance and other economic and military projects.

The Alliance for Progress program and the Development Loan Fund carry five-year authorizations, as in the past.

This is the first time, however, approval has been sought for other programs for more than a single year.

Irondale Couple Injured As Cars Hit On Route 213

An Irondale couple was injured when the car in which they were passengers was involved in a collision Wednesday at 8:45 p.m. on Route 213, a mile east of Hammondsville.

The crash involved cars operated by Norman F. Hardy, 25, of 901 Grant St., Newell, and Wilbur A. Russell, 48, of 304 Washington St., Lisbon, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Hardy halted on the roadway and was standing near his vehicle when Russell's car struck the parked auto in the rear.

Passengers in Russell's car who were injured were Joseph Brimlow 55, of Irondale R.D. 1, lacerations of the right arm, and his wife, Mrs. Marguerite Brimlow, 53, lacerations of both hands and legs, abrasions of both knees and lacerations of the forehead. Mrs. Brimlow was treated at City Hospital.

change student nurses between 18 and 26 years of age.

The survivor, Amarao Crozono, told police Capt. Harold Mc Coy she avoided the killer by hiding under a bed.

Miss Crozono, half hysterical, could only be questioned briefly, Mc Coy said. She gave a general description of the killer, noting his blond hair, height about 6 feet 1, and weight about 170 pounds. She said he was wearing a short, waist-length jacket.

An FBI official said that the crime was the worst in Chicago annals. Veteran policemen were shocked, they said, by the enormous quantity of blood around the bodies of the victims.

Three of the victims were found in each of the two bedrooms which had been used as a cell. One was in a bathroom on the second floor of the house, and one in the first floor living room.

Coroner Andrew Toman, after looking at the carnage, said, "This is the crime of the century."

"I went inside and found one girl lying downstairs, apparently strangled," he said. "There was a strip of cloth around her neck. She was partly clothed.

"Upstairs, seven other girls were lying in two bedrooms and a bathroom.

"Several of the bodies were sprawled across one another. Some of the victims appeared to have been strangled. Some were lying in pools of blood."

He said, "I've been a coroner for six years, and I've never seen anything like this."

Toman gave these tentative identifications of the victims: Marlita Gargullo, 21; Pamela Wilkening, 22; Gloria Davy, 23; Susan Farris, 22; Patricia Matsucki, 21, Marianne Nordan, 22; Valicentia Passon, 23, and Nina Schmale, 21. He said he did not yet know where their homes were.

Ohioan Held In Stock Theft

CLEVELAND (AP) — FBI agents have arrested a North Randall man on charges that he transported more than $30,000 worth of stolen stock from Ambridge, Pa., and sold part of it in Cleveland by forging the name of the real owner.

John S. Orman, 35, was arrested Wednesday in the parking lot of the Parkview Federal Savings & Loan Association in Shaker Heights, which had been staked out by agents.

The warrant on which he was arrested charges that on July 8 Orman transported to Cleveland 585 shares of Reynolds Metals Co. stock, part of the loot in a safe burglary May 7 in the office of John B. Ceris, a lawyer in Ambridge.

Government sources said that between $50,000 and $60,000 worth of stock of several companies had been taken from the safe.

GOP May Ask Inquiry In Antitrust Dismissal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders are expected to call today for a congressional inquiry into the government's dismissal of an antitrust suit against the Anheuser-Busch Co. after officials of the brewing firm contributed $10,000 to a Democratic fund-raising organization.

A spokesman for the company said "the whole thing is preposterous."

It was understood that Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., would call for the inquiry in a House speech today.

The issue was first raised Wednesday by House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford. He told a news conference "disturbing rumors" were circulating that the Johnson administration may have dropped antitrust suits against companies whose executives contributed to the Democrats. Ford gave no names.

A check of government records showed that on May 24 the August A. Busch family and two company executives made contributions totaling $10,000 to the President's Club, comprised of persons who contribute at least $1,000 to the Democrats.

On June 17, records showed, the Justice Department dropped a civil antitrust suit seeking to force the company to divest itself of a malting plant in Wisconsin it had acquired from the Rahr Malting Co. The suit was dismissed without prejudice — meaning it could be refiled later, officials said.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the Justice Department had voluntarily consented to dismissal of two antitrust cases this year, including the one against Anheuser-Busch.

The second case, dismissed Wednesday, was a civil suit charging several paper producers with conspiring to hold down prices they paid for pulp wood, Katzenbach said. He added he authorized dismissal of the cases upon recommendation of Asst. Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, head of the antitrust division, and members of his staff. "Reviews of the cases after all evidence had been accumulated indicated that further prosecution was not warranted," Katzenbach said in a statement.

Records filed with the House show $2,000 contributions to the President's Club each from A.A. Busch Jr. and his wife, and $1,000 each from Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Busch III. In addition there were contributions of $1,000 each from the executive vice president, Richard A. Meyer and his wife, and Alfred Fleishman, who is in charge of the firm's public relations, and Fleishman's wife.

In St. Louis, Fleishman said: "The whole thing is preposterous. Anybody who thinks he can buy the Justice Department for a political contribution is crazy."

He added that "the fact is August Busch is a 30-year friend of President Johnson's. He'd contribute to anything Lyndon Johnson was for."

Katzenbach said the case involving the paper producers was dismissed at Grand Rapids, Mich., after a court ruled that government evidence in a companion criminal case, based on the same facts, was insufficient.

Defendants in this case were listed as Scott Paper Co., Philadelphia; S.D. Warren Co., Boston; Abitibi Corp., Alpena, Mich.; Menasha Corp., Menasha, Wis.; American Excelsior Corp., Chicago, and Hammermill Paper Co., Erie, Pa.

"I have no idea whether executives of any of these companies contribute to the Democratic, Republican, or any other party," Katzenbach said.

Before the attorney general issued his statement, Robert H. Fleming, deputy White House press secretary, said in answer to questions that he had nothing to say except that "Ford himself says there are only rumors which he hasn't verified."

Plans Advanced For Homecoming At Highlandtown

The homecoming will feature carnival rides, concession booths and displays. Highlights of the event will include a tractor pull Wednesday at 7 p.m., a pony pull Thursday at 7 p.m. and the annual parade Friday at 7 p.m.

Saturday afternoon at 1 a horse pull will be held and a horse show will be presented Saturday at 7 p.m.

A band concert will be presented Friday evening outside the fire hall. A rock 'n roll band will play for dances two nights at the station.

Magic, Comedy Show Set Tuesday At Lisbon

LISBON — Col. F. M. Seymour & Co. will present a show of magic and comedy at 8 p.m. Tuesday in David Anderson High School auditorium.

The colonel and his wife, Frances, live in Little Rock, Ark., and are friends of Dan Myers of the Lisbon Kiwanis Club, which is sponsoring the show.

Col. Seymour and his wife are on summer tour in New York and Connecticut. They have made 47 guest appearances on U. S. and Canadian television stations.

Myers said they will present an audience participation show. They were top billed last spring at the Southeastern Magicians Convention, he said.

Board Hires 3 Teachers At Waterford

MIDDLETON — Three teachers were hired at a meeting of the Fairfield - Waterford School District Board of Education Wednesday night at Crestview High School.

Employed were Mrs. Carole Hoff of New Waterford for the third grade at Fairfield, Miss Barbara Rohrer of Columbiana as art teacher and Richard Hutira of Leetonia to teach vocational work experience.

Supt. Joseph Driscoll said the district still needs an industrial arts teacher, a science teacher and a junior high school football coach.

The board accepted the resignation of Richard Dimello, science teacher, who plans to obtain a master's degree.

After a discussion on the school building project with Robert Beatty, architect, the board selected yellow glaze tile for the new cafeteria at New Waterford.

The board approved a resolution favoring toll - free telephone service between Waterford and Columbiana in response to a questionnaire from Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Used equipment was awarded to high bidders Franklin Square Methodist Church, $75 for a mixer; Our Lady of Lourdes School at East Palestine, $16 for a freezer and $11 for a refrigerator, and James Vale of New Waterford, $7 for a wood lathe.

No bids were received for a vegetable peeler, stack oven and dishwasher, and anyone interested may notify Driscoll.

Bus drivers' salaries were increased from $1,700 to $1,800, including storage and four field trips. The salary of Mrs. Esther Chesney, school nurse, was increased from $2,300 to $2,900 including travel expense and school enumeration.

The salary of Lloyd Everett, head custodian, was raised to $4,700, and two other custodians to $4,500. They had been receiving $4,100 each.

Bids for milk and bread and stoker coal will be received at the next meeting Aug. 10.

By WILBUR MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administrations $3.3-billion multiyear foreign aid authorization bill has sailed through its first House test but opponents vowed to try again today to slash both time and money from the measure.

The House voted down 122 to 86 Wednesday night an amendment to cut the two-year authorization to a single year. Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Calif., author of the rejected amendment, later declared: "I'm sure somebody else will try again today. If they don't," he added, "I just might."

A final vote is expected late today. Voting on amendments started Wednesday after two days of debate.

Opponents of the two-year measure argued that a constant review is needed of the aid program in light of changing, critical world times.

Supporters backed the administration's contention that the longer period is needed for planning and to give confidence to underdeveloped nations.

The nine-section measure would authorize funds for development loans, technical assistance, housing, international organizations, supporting assistance and other economic and military projects.

The Alliance for Progress program and the Development Loan Fund carry five-year authorizations, as in the past.

This is the first time, however, approval has been sought for other programs for more than a single year.

Irondale Couple Injured As Cars Hit On Route 213

An Irondale couple was injured when the car in which they were passengers was involved in a collision Wednesday at 8:45 p.m. on Route 213, a mile east of Hammondsville.

The crash involved cars operated by Norman F. Hardy, 25, of 901 Grant St., Newell, and Wilbur A. Russell, 48, of 304 Washington St., Lisbon, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Hardy halted on the roadway and was standing near his vehicle when Russell's car struck the parked auto in the rear.

Passengers in Russell's car who were injured were Joseph Brimlow 55, of Irondale R.D. 1, lacerations of the right arm, and his wife, Mrs. Marguerite Brimlow, 53, lacerations of both hands and legs, abrasions of both knees and lacerations of the forehead. Mrs. Brimlow was treated at City Hospital.

change student nurses between 18 and 26 years of age.

The survivor, Amarao Crozono, told police Capt. Harold Mc Coy she avoided the killer by hiding under a bed.

Miss Crozono, half hysterical, could only be questioned briefly, Mc Coy said. She gave a general description of the killer, noting his blond hair, height about 6 feet 1, and weight about 170 pounds. She said he was wearing a short, waist-length jacket.

An FBI official said that the crime was the worst in Chicago annals. Veteran policemen were shocked, they said, by the enormous quantity of blood around the bodies of the victims.

Three of the victims were found in each of the two bedrooms which had been used as a cell. One was in a bathroom on the second floor of the house, and one in the first floor living room.

Coroner Andrew Toman, after looking at the carnage, said, "This is the crime of the century."

"I went inside and found one girl lying downstairs, apparently strangled," he said. "There was a strip of cloth around her neck. She was partly clothed.

"Upstairs, seven other girls were lying in two bedrooms and a bathroom.

"Several of the bodies were sprawled across one another. Some of the victims appeared to have been strangled. Some were lying in pools of blood."

He said, "I've been a coroner for six years, and I've never seen anything like this."

Toman gave these tentative identifications of the victims: Marlita Gargullo, 21; Pamela Wilkening, 22; Gloria Davy, 23; Susan Farris, 22; Patricia Matsucki, 21, Marianne Nordan, 22; Valicentia Passon, 23, and Nina Schmale, 21. He said he did not yet know where their homes were.

Ohioan Held In Stock Theft

CLEVELAND (AP) — FBI agents have arrested a North Randall man on charges that he transported more than $30,000 worth of stolen stock from Ambridge, Pa., and sold part of it in Cleveland by forging the name of the real owner.

John S. Orman, 35, was arrested Wednesday in the parking lot of the Parkview Federal Savings & Loan Association in Shaker Heights, which had been staked out by agents.

The warrant on which he was arrested charges that on July 8 Orman transported to Cleveland 585 shares of Reynolds Metals Co. stock, part of the loot in a safe burglary May 7 in the office of John B. Ceris, a lawyer in Ambridge.

Government sources said that between $50,000 and $60,000 worth of stock of several companies had been taken from the safe.

GOP May Ask Inquiry In Antitrust Dismissal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders are expected to call today for a congressional inquiry into the government's dismissal of an antitrust suit against the Anheuser-Busch Co. after officials of the brewing firm contributed $10,000 to a Democratic fund-raising organization.

A spokesman for the company said "the whole thing is preposterous."

It was understood that Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., would call for the inquiry in a House speech today.

The issue was first raised Wednesday by House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford. He told a news conference "disturbing rumors" were circulating that the Johnson administration may have dropped antitrust suits against companies whose executives contributed to the Democrats. Ford gave no names.

A check of government records showed that on May 24 the August A. Busch family and two company executives made contributions totaling $10,000 to the President's Club, comprised of persons who contribute at least $1,000 to the Democrats.

On June 17, records showed, the Justice Department dropped a civil antitrust suit seeking to force the company to divest itself of a malting plant in Wisconsin it had acquired from the Rahr Malting Co. The suit was dismissed without prejudice — meaning it could be refiled later, officials said.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the Justice Department had voluntarily consented to dismissal of two antitrust cases this year, including the one against Anheuser-Busch.

The second case, dismissed Wednesday, was a civil suit charging several paper producers with conspiring to hold down prices they paid for pulp wood, Katzenbach said. He added he authorized dismissal of the cases upon recommendation of Asst. Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, head of the antitrust division, and members of his staff. "Reviews of the cases after all evidence had been accumulated indicated that further prosecution was not warranted," Katzenbach said in a statement.

Records filed with the House show $2,000 contributions to the President's Club each from A.A. Busch Jr. and his wife, and $1,000 each from Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Busch III. In addition there were contributions of $1,000 each from the executive vice president, Richard A. Meyer and his wife, and Alfred Fleishman, who is in charge of the firm's public relations, and Fleishman's wife.

In St. Louis, Fleishman said: "The whole thing is preposterous. Anybody who thinks he can buy the Justice Department for a political contribution is crazy."

He added that "the fact is August Busch is a 30-year friend of President Johnson's. He'd contribute to anything Lyndon Johnson was for."

Katzenbach said the case involving the paper producers was dismissed at Grand Rapids, Mich., after a court ruled that government evidence in a companion criminal case, based on the same facts, was insufficient.

Defendants in this case were listed as Scott Paper Co., Philadelphia; S.D. Warren Co., Boston; Abitibi Corp., Alpena, Mich.; Menasha Corp., Menasha, Wis.; American Excelsior Corp., Chicago, and Hammermill Paper Co., Erie, Pa.

"I have no idea whether executives of any of these companies contribute to the Democratic, Republican, or any other party," Katzenbach said.

Before the attorney general issued his statement, Robert H. Fleming, deputy White House press secretary, said in answer to questions that he had nothing to say except that "Ford himself says there are only rumors which he hasn't verified."

Ray Miller Dies Of Heart Attack

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ray T. Miller Sr., 73, who has been credited with forging the Democratic Party into the dominant political force here, died Wednesday of an apparent heart attack while mowing his lawn.

Death came suddenly for the retired Democrat boss. Within the last two weeks, he had been pronounced in excellent shape by doctors, according to Riley Miller, one of six children.

Starting from humble circumstances, he amassed a private fortune. He was a small town boy who came to the big city and conquered its politics, rising on successive waves of controversy and conflict to become Cleveland's mayor in 1932. He served only one term. Defeated in two succeeding elections, Miller retired from politics for two years but came back to head a revolt against leaders of the Democratic organization.

Ultimately, he became the Democratic Party leader in 1938 and ruled as party chairman until he stepped down two years ago.

During a political career that spanned more than half a century, he also served as county prosecutor. He had begun his political career as an assistant city law director.

Miller was born in Defiance and, in the tradition of his football playing family, went to Notre Dame where he earned a berth on the Fighting Irish's varsity squad. He was on the same team with Knute Rockne.

While Miller stepped down as party chairman two years ago, he continued as head of the Cuyahoga County Election Board until January of this year. At that time, he made a complete break with political activity.

Requiem mass will be offered Saturday at Our Lady of Peace Catholic Church.

Bing's Brother Dies In Hospital

SHARON, Conn. (AP) Everett Crosby, who managed the singing career of his brother Bing for many years, died Wednesday night at Sharon Hospital. He was 70.

He had been confined to a wheelchair since both legs were amputated in 1964 because of a circulatory ailment. Last year he was treated for cancer of the throat and it was hoped he had recovered.

Everett Crosby moved to this rural town in northwestern Connecticut four years ago and had been raising prize Morgan and Arabian horses.

Everett, the second of seven children of Harry L. and Catherine Crosby, served as an artillery sergeant in World War I after studying at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash.

He began managing his brother's career in 1928 when Bing came to Los Angeles looking for work as a singer.

"I figured I could sing better than he could," Everett said, "but I said, 'Listen, if you're going to live with me, you're going to work'."

Everett also claimed as his discoveries such stars as Robert Preston, Rod Cameron, Mary Healy and Keith Andes.

He was president of Everett Crosby Productions, Bing Crosby Enterprises, and secretary of the Crosby Investment Co.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

The first airplane flight to last more than half an hour was made by Orville Wright on Oct. 4, 1905, when he kept his craft in the air for 33 minutes, 17 seconds.

Sends Letter To Scranton

Simpson Hits Procedures Which Led To Dismissal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles G. Simpson, fired this week by Gov. William Scranton from the state Board of Education, says he was given no chance to answer charges leading to his dismissal.

Simpson closed the book on his service Wednesday, however, in a letter to the governor.

"Not for the sake of Charles Simpson, but for the sake of sound government practice and education reform," he wrote to Scranton, "I hope you will come to realize that the methods, procedures and attitudes of the state board officers do not constitute fair or reliable basis for dismissing me without notice and without hearing."

"I deny the characterizations placed upon my conduct by those seeking my ouster," he said, "and regret that you chose to adopt their interpretations as fact, without fair investigation and deliberation."

Simpson was referring specifically to charges made against him by Dr. Otis C. McCreery, board chairman.

"While I am advised that my dismissal is subject to strong legal challenge," the letter continued, "I feel that my own work on the board has been substantially completed."

Simpson, a frequent critic of administration education policies, recently revealed and attacked some elements of a master plan for education being prepared by the board.

Simpson noted he had filed an official dissenting report on the proposed master plan last Monday "while I was still a member of the state board."

Special Recreation Events Are Offered For Girls Here

USW Will Assist Communities Hit By Plant Closings

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union has created a committee to help towns recover from the economic shock of plant closings.

Walter J. Burke, international secretary - treasurer, was named Wednesday to head the five-man group by union President I. W. Abel.

The committee will implement a program initiated at Toronto, Canada. The committee was told about 60,000 union members were left without jobs in the past three years as a result of "technological changes, marketing factors and unilateral decisions of management."

Group Outlines Plans On Football Program

Plans for the football program were discussed during a meeting of the Beaver Local Boosters Club Tuesday night.

Michael Klembara, president, conducted business. Richard McCoy presented members with 1966 schedules.

Mrs. Ruth Green resigned as recording secretary, with the vacancy to be filled at the next meeting July 26.

Mrs. Robert Charlton served refreshments to 18. Mr. and Mrs. John Smith will serve at the next meeting.

There were 630,310 public housing units in the United States at the beginning of this year.

Democratic Figure

Ray Miller Dies Of Heart Attack

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ray T. Miller Sr., 73, who has been credited with forging the Democratic Party into the dominant political force here, died Wednesday of an apparent heart attack while mowing his lawn.

Death came suddenly for the retired Democrat boss. Within the last two weeks, he had been pronounced in excellent shape by doctors, according to Riley Miller, one of six children.

Starting from humble circumstances, he amassed a private fortune. He was a small town boy who came to the big city and conquered its politics, rising on successive waves of controversy and conflict to become Cleveland's mayor in 1932. He served only one term. Defeated in two succeeding elections, Miller retired from politics for two years but came back to head a revolt against leaders of the Democratic organization.

Ultimately, he became the Democratic Party leader in 1938 and ruled as party chairman until he stepped down two years ago.

During a political career that spanned more than half a century, he also served as county prosecutor. He had begun his political career as an assistant city law director.

Miller was born in Defiance and, in the tradition of his football playing family, went to Notre Dame where he earned a berth on the Fighting Irish's varsity squad. He was on the same team with Knute Rockne.

While Miller stepped down as party chairman two years ago, he continued as head of the Cuyahoga County Election Board until January of this year. At that time, he made a complete break with political activity.

Requiem mass will be offered Saturday at Our Lady of Peace Catholic Church.

Bing's Brother Dies In Hospital

SHARON, Conn. (AP) Everett Crosby, who managed the singing career of his brother Bing for many years, died Wednesday night at Sharon Hospital. He was 70.

He had been confined to a wheelchair since both legs were amputated in 1964 because of a circulatory ailment. Last year he was treated for cancer of the throat and it was hoped he had recovered.

Everett Crosby moved to this rural town in northwestern Connecticut four years ago and had been raising prize Morgan and Arabian horses.

Everett, the second of seven children of Harry L. and Catherine Crosby, served as an artillery sergeant in World War I after studying at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash.

He began managing his brother's career in 1928 when Bing came to Los Angeles looking for work as a singer.

"I figured I could sing better than he could," Everett said, "but I said, 'Listen, if you're going to live with me, you're going to work'."

Everett also claimed as his discoveries such stars as Robert Preston, Rod Cameron, Mary Healy and Keith Andes.

He was president of Everett Crosby Productions, Bing Crosby Enterprises, and secretary of the Crosby Investment Co.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

The first airplane flight to last more than half an hour was made by Orville Wright on Oct. 4, 1905, when he kept his craft in the air for 33 minutes, 17 seconds.

Sends Letter To Scranton

Simpson Hits Procedures Which Led To Dismissal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles G. Simpson, fired this week by Gov. William Scranton from the state Board of Education, says he was given no chance to answer charges leading to his dismissal.

Simpson closed the book on his service Wednesday, however, in a letter to the governor.

"Not for the sake of Charles Simpson, but for the sake of sound government practice and education reform," he wrote to Scranton, "I hope you will come to realize that the methods, procedures and attitudes of the state board officers do not constitute fair or reliable basis for dismissing me without notice and without hearing."

"I deny the characterizations placed upon my conduct by those seeking my ouster," he said, "and regret that you chose to adopt their interpretations as fact, without fair investigation and deliberation."

Simpson was referring specifically to charges made against him by Dr. Otis C. McCreery, board chairman.

"While I am advised that my dismissal is subject to strong legal challenge," the letter continued, "I feel that my own work on the board has been substantially completed."

Simpson, a frequent critic of administration education policies, recently revealed and attacked some elements of a master plan for education being prepared by the board.

Simpson noted he had filed an official dissenting report on the proposed master plan last Monday "while I was still a member of the state board."

Special Recreation Events Are Offered For Girls Here

A special recreation program for girls of the community will be offered by Kinoka Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., at the Bryan Recreation Center in Dixonville.

Beginning Tuesday, the sessions will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week until Aug. 11, from 1 p.m. until 3:30 p.m.

The following program will be offered: Outdoor cooking skills on Tuesday, photography and music on Wednesday and knitting and hand arts on Thursday. A variety of sports equipment will be available each day for sports and games.

Specialists, who will be available, include Betty Newton, home service adviser for the Ohio Valley Gas Co., members of the Camera Club, Mrs. Dan Henderson for hand arts, Mrs. Larry Walton for music and Mrs. Don Burbick for knitting.

Camp Fire leaders who will assist are Mrs. Alice Diddle, Mrs. Kay Waters, Mrs. Shirley Leonard, Mrs. Barbara Talbott, Mrs. Carletta Arrington, Mrs. Elsie Pethtel, Mrs. Murdine Young, Mrs. Helen Friess and Mrs. Bessie Wathey.

USW Will Assist Communities Hit By Plant Closings

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union has created a committee to help towns recover from the economic shock of plant closings.

Walter J. Burke, international secretary - treasurer, was named Wednesday to head the five-man group by union President I. W. Abel.

The committee will implement a program initiated at Toronto, Canada. The committee was told about 60,000 union members were left without jobs in the past three years as a result of "technological changes, marketing factors and unilateral decisions of management."

Group Outlines Plans On Football Program

Plans for the football program were discussed during a meeting of the Beaver Local Boosters Club Tuesday night.

Michael Klembara, president, conducted business. Richard McCoy presented members with 1966 schedules.

Mrs. Ruth Green resigned as recording secretary, with the vacancy to be filled at the next meeting July 26.

Mrs. Robert Charlton served refreshments to 18. Mr. and Mrs. John Smith will serve at the next meeting.

Plans For St. Rocco Fete Advanced At Wellsville

William Cataldo, chairman, said a contract has been signed for rides and concessions with the American Funland World of Fun Shows of Shalersville for the Aug. 8-14 event.

The same firm provided the rides last year. Advance sale tickets may be purchased from any member of the K. of C. and also will be available at several business places.

The festival will feature concerts and a fireworks display. The fireworks contract may be signed next week.

The first of a series of degrees will be held Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the hall. The first major degree will be in October.

There are five candidates. The degree team will be headed by James McGowan of East Liverpool. Filling the chairs will be John E. Johnston, Fred Baldasare, Joseph Giuliani, John McCarron, Dan Osborn and Sam Amato Jr. Nick Zelasko will lead the choir. The lunch committee will be headed by Jim Stevens.

Installation of officers will be held Aug. 2, with James McPeak, district deputy, in charge. The monthly social will be July 30 at 8 p.m. at the clubrooms, with Stevens and Giuliani chairmen.

A district officers' meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m., with McPeak in charge. The councils to be represented are East Liverpool, Lisbon, Salineville and Wellsville.

Sam Amato was appointed K. of C. adviser to the Lady Knights. Andy Holowaty was appointed lecturer.

Word was received from the Supreme Council confirming the appointment of John Cataldo as local financial secretary.

A committee of past grand knights was named to revise the bylaws. It includes George Prokop, chairman, McPeak, Anthony Cataldo, Amato and Baldasare.

Following the regular business session, the Desmond Holding Co. reorganized. Frank Roberts was elected president, George Prokop secretary-treasurer and Amato, Anthony Cataldo and McPeak trustees.

Brigitte Bardot Weds In Nevada Ceremonies

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Brigitte Bardot, France's international sex symbol, married wealthy German playboy Gunther Sachs today in a private ceremony that ended with kisses and an Irish toast.

Sachs turned and kissed her. She gave him a big hug.

Mowbray, an Irishman, saluted them with French champagne and a toast from his forefathers "May the road rise to meet you," he said, "and may the wind be ever at your back."

The film actress then turned to kiss each of the four male witnesses to the ceremony.

The marriage took eight minutes. It was at the home of Las Vegas lawyer Bill Coulthard, who arranged it through friends of Sachs and Miss Bardot in New York and Washington, D.C.

Miss Bardot and her new husband—her third—spent the night at the lawyer's home and said they would fly this morning by chartered jet to Mexico for a 10-day honeymoon.

Sachs is a widower with an 11-year-old son, Rolf. He is on the board of one family company and is chairman of another.

Miss Bardot has a 6-year-old son, Nicolas, by her marriage to actor Jacquer Charrier in 1959. They were divorced in 1963 in Paris and Charrier got custody of the child.

She got her start in motion pictures from her first husband, Roger Vadim, a French film director whom she married in 1952. They had no children and were divorced in 1956.

Rhodes Proposes Plan To Eliminate Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposal for direct treatment of polluted streams within the streams themselves was made by Gov. James A. Rhodes today.

"This is a proposal that will put Ohio far ahead of any other state in water pollution control procedures," the governor said. "We are breaking away from traditional methods of waste treatment and adding a new step that can put us well into the future in our clean water program."

He called on engineers of the Ohio Department of Health and Water Pollution Control Board to develop specific plans for the line with his previous call for new and better methods of pollution control.

He said direct treatment of streams themselves is not a new idea among engineers, just that the idea has never been developed before as part of a formal state anti-pollution program. He said engineers have informed him that stream quality would be greatly improved by direct treatment, which would include aeration devices, neutralization equipment, oil skimmer, debris traps and other facilities.

Such treatment, he said, would not relieve municipalities and industries from providing the highest possible treatment of their own wastes before discharge.

However, he added, in some sections of heavily used streams the concentrations of remaining waste, even after high degrees of treatment by cities and industries, may still leave undesirable conditions, and it is these conditions proposed for correction by direct treatment.

Rhodes cited the heavily burdened lower Cuyahoga River as one where direct treatment within the stream itself may be needed. He asked the health department engineers to make a particular study of the Cuyahoga situation with this in mind.

City Appraisers Will Place Value On Old Car Barn

A three - man team of appraisers has been named to place an estimated value on the old car barn property on Pennsylvania Ave. which the city may buy as a new garage and maintenance building for its rolling stock and supplies, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The appraisers were named under authority granted to Vodrey several weeks ago by Council. When the report of the property's value is filed, Council will decide whether or not to go ahead with the deal.

The tract includes several acres of ground and four or five buildings. The main structure, a big two - story brick, was used for years as a car barn by the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co. Later, it was a bus barn for the street car company's successor, the Valley Motor Transit Co.

Mayor George E. Willshaw long has proposed acquisition of a structure that could be used for storage and regular maintenance of city vehicles. The structure also could be used for storage of supplies used for winter snow and ice control, he said.

3 More Drivers Cited In Chester Campaign

Three more motorists were cited Wednesday night by Chester police in a continuing crackdown on traffic violations.

Robert Graham and Jack Reynolds, both of Louisiana Ave., Chester, were charged with not possessing a city driver's license.

All are scheduled to appear before Mayor Burton G. Ward Friday night at 7.

Bids Planned On Street Job

The administration expects to issue a formal call soon for contractors' bids on the city's annual low - cost street - surfacing program, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper now is in the process of drafting the legal advertisement for bids. The Board of Control, comprised of Vodrey and Mayor George E. Willshaw, expects to receive the offers sometime in early August.

About 30 streets are scheduled for surfacing this summer. July 1 was the deadline for filing petitions with the director's office.

In addition to the initial treatments, surface sealing coats will be applied this summer to all the streets which were surfaced for the first time in the summer of 1963.

In the initial surfacing, the city pays 50 per cent of each householder's cost, plus the cost of any intersections. The second treatment, applied two years after the first surfacing, is done entirely at the city's expense. In both instances, the city's share is paid out of income tax revenues.

Vodrey said an estimated 94,000 square feet of surface will be treated in this summer's program.

After householders' petitions are filed, the city engineer's office makes measurements of each affected stretch and advises the committee of the cost per foot for each job.

800 Attend Barbecue

LISBON — Kiwanis Club members served 800 at their annual chicken barbecue Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 8 p.m. at Willow Grove Park. Proceeds will be used for community youth projects, according to Cornell P. Monda, president.

3 Are Injured In Car Wreck

A Chester motorist and her two passengers, both of Newell, were injured in a one - car accident shortly after midnight Wednesday on Route 66 near Congo.

Darla Smith, 25, of 330 2nd St., Chester, the driver, was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the left shoulder, forehead and cheek.

Sandra Coleman, 25, of Alley A, Newell, was admitted with multiple abrasions and lacerations of both knees and lower legs. She is listed today in "fairly good" condition.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said Miss Smith lost control of the northbound 1961 station wagon, which veered off the highway and took out nine guard rail posts.

She was cited for failure to have her vehicle under control.

The auto received damage estimated at $500.

The Grand Army of the Republic, formally disbanded in 1949 when it had 16 members, attained its peak in popularity in 1890 when its ranks listed 409,489 veterans.

Fined For 'Sticker'

NEW CUMBERLAND — Gary Jenkins, 21, of New Cumberland R.D. 1 was fined $10 and costs by Squire John D. Herron Wednesday for an expired auto inspection sticker. He was cited by West Virginia State Police.

Plans For St. Rocco Fete Advanced At Wellsville

William Cataldo, chairman, said a contract has been signed for rides and concessions with the American Funland World of Fun Shows of Shalersville for the Aug. 8-14 event.

The same firm provided the rides last year. Advance sale tickets may be purchased from any member of the K. of C. and also will be available at several business places.

The festival will feature concerts and a fireworks display. The fireworks contract may be signed next week.

The first of a series of degrees will be held Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the hall. The first major degree will be in October.

There are five candidates. The degree team will be headed by James McGowan of East Liverpool. Filling the chairs will be John E. Johnston, Fred Baldasare, Joseph Giuliani, John McCarron, Dan Osborn and Sam Amato Jr. Nick Zelasko will lead the choir. The lunch committee will be headed by Jim Stevens.

Installation of officers will be held Aug. 2, with James McPeak, district deputy, in charge. The monthly social will be July 30 at 8 p.m. at the clubrooms, with Stevens and Giuliani chairmen.

A district officers' meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m., with McPeak in charge. The councils to be represented are East Liverpool, Lisbon, Salineville and Wellsville.

Sam Amato was appointed K. of C. adviser to the Lady Knights. Andy Holowaty was appointed lecturer.

Word was received from the Supreme Council confirming the appointment of John Cataldo as local financial secretary.

A committee of past grand knights was named to revise the bylaws. It includes George Prokop, chairman, McPeak, Anthony Cataldo, Amato and Baldasare.

Following the regular business session, the Desmond Holding Co. reorganized. Frank Roberts was elected president, George Prokop secretary-treasurer and Amato, Anthony Cataldo and McPeak trustees.

Brigitte Bardot Weds In Nevada Ceremonies

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Brigitte Bardot, France's international sex symbol, married wealthy German playboy Gunther Sachs today in a private ceremony that ended with kisses and an Irish toast.

Sachs turned and kissed her. She gave him a big hug.

Mowbray, an Irishman, saluted them with French champagne and a toast from his forefathers "May the road rise to meet you," he said, "and may the wind be ever at your back."

The film actress then turned to kiss each of the four male witnesses to the ceremony.

The marriage took eight minutes. It was at the home of Las Vegas lawyer Bill Coulthard, who arranged it through friends of Sachs and Miss Bardot in New York and Washington, D.C.

Miss Bardot and her new husband—her third—spent the night at the lawyer's home and said they would fly this morning by chartered jet to Mexico for a 10-day honeymoon.

Sachs is a widower with an 11-year-old son, Rolf. He is on the board of one family company and is chairman of another.

Miss Bardot has a 6-year-old son, Nicolas, by her marriage to actor Jacquer Charrier in 1959. They were divorced in 1963 in Paris and Charrier got custody of the child.

She got her start in motion pictures from her first husband, Roger Vadim, a French film director whom she married in 1952. They had no children and were divorced in 1956.

Rhodes Proposes Plan To Eliminate Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposal for direct treatment of polluted streams within the streams themselves was made by Gov. James A. Rhodes today.

"This is a proposal that will put Ohio far ahead of any other state in water pollution control procedures," the governor said. "We are breaking away from traditional methods of waste treatment and adding a new step that can put us well into the future in our clean water program."

He called on engineers of the Ohio Department of Health and Water Pollution Control Board to develop specific plans for the line with his previous call for new and better methods of pollution control.

He said direct treatment of streams themselves is not a new idea among engineers, just that the idea has never been developed before as part of a formal state anti-pollution program. He said engineers have informed him that stream quality would be greatly improved by direct treatment, which would include aeration devices, neutralization equipment, oil skimmer, debris traps and other facilities.

Such treatment, he said, would not relieve municipalities and industries from providing the highest possible treatment of their own wastes before discharge.

However, he added, in some sections of heavily used streams the concentrations of remaining waste, even after high degrees of treatment by cities and industries, may still leave undesirable conditions, and it is these conditions proposed for correction by direct treatment.

Rhodes cited the heavily burdened lower Cuyahoga River as one where direct treatment within the stream itself may be needed. He asked the health department engineers to make a particular study of the Cuyahoga situation with this in mind.

City Appraisers Will Place Value On Old Car Barn

A three - man team of appraisers has been named to place an estimated value on the old car barn property on Pennsylvania Ave. which the city may buy as a new garage and maintenance building for its rolling stock and supplies, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The appraisers were named under authority granted to Vodrey several weeks ago by Council. When the report of the property's value is filed, Council will decide whether or not to go ahead with the deal.

The tract includes several acres of ground and four or five buildings. The main structure, a big two - story brick, was used for years as a car barn by the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co. Later, it was a bus barn for the street car company's successor, the Valley Motor Transit Co.

Mayor George E. Willshaw long has proposed acquisition of a structure that could be used for storage and regular maintenance of city vehicles. The structure also could be used for storage of supplies used for winter snow and ice control, he said.

3 More Drivers Cited In Chester Campaign

Three more motorists were cited Wednesday night by Chester police in a continuing crackdown on traffic violations.

Robert Graham and Jack Reynolds, both of Louisiana Ave., Chester, were charged with not possessing a city driver's license.

Bids Planned On Street Job

The administration expects to issue a formal call soon for contractors' bids on the city's annual low - cost street - surfacing program, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper now is in the process of drafting the legal advertisement for bids. The Board of Control, comprised of Vodrey and Mayor George E. Willshaw, expects to receive the offers sometime in early August.

About 30 streets are scheduled for surfacing this summer. July 1 was the deadline for filing petitions with the director's office.

In addition to the initial treatments, surface sealing coats will be applied this summer to all the streets which were surfaced for the first time in the summer of 1963.

In the initial surfacing, the city pays 50 per cent of each householder's cost, plus the cost of any intersections. The second treatment, applied two years after the first surfacing, is done entirely at the city's expense. In both instances, the city's share is paid out of income tax revenues.

Vodrey said an estimated 94,000 square feet of surface will be treated in this summer's program.

After householders' petitions are filed, the city engineer's office makes measurements of each affected stretch and advises the committee of the cost per foot for each job.

800 Attend Barbecue

LISBON — Kiwanis Club members served 800 at their annual chicken barbecue Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 8 p.m. at Willow Grove Park. Proceeds will be used for community youth projects, according to Cornell P. Monda, president.

3 Are Injured In Car Wreck

A Chester motorist and her two passengers, both of Newell, were injured in a one - car accident shortly after midnight Wednesday on Route 66 near Congo.

Darla Smith, 25, of 330 2nd St., Chester, the driver, was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the left shoulder, forehead and cheek.

Sandra Coleman, 25, of Alley A, Newell, was admitted with multiple abrasions and lacerations of both knees and lower legs. She is listed today in "fairly good" condition.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said Miss Smith lost control of the northbound 1961 station wagon, which veered off the highway and took out nine guard rail posts.

She was cited for failure to have her vehicle under control.

The auto received damage estimated at $500.

The Grand Army of the Republic, formally disbanded in 1949 when it had 16 members, attained its peak in popularity in 1890 when its ranks listed 409,489 veterans.

Fined For 'Sticker'

NEW CUMBERLAND — Gary Jenkins, 21, of New Cumberland R.D. 1 was fined $10 and costs by Squire John D. Herron Wednesday for an expired auto inspection sticker. He was cited by West Virginia State Police.

City Will Host Colt Tourney Aug. 4-7

East Liverpool will be the site of the Regional Colt League tournament for the next three years, Don E. Smith, tournament director, announced Wednesday.

Colt League officials at East Liverpool signed the first year of a three year contract with regional director Martin Kendzora of St. Clairsville. Representing the local Colt group were Smith, Arthur Lynch, president and J. Allen (Red) Montgomery, vice president.

THE FOUR-DAY tournament will be staged here next month, Aug. 4 - 7, at the Colt League field off St. Clair Ave. Ext. with East Liverpool playing host to four other teams.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Regional Event Slated Here Next 3 Years

The five-team tournament will be made up of a team from Western New York, one each from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and the East Liverpool entry.

The tournament will be a double elimination event with the winner advancing to Divisional play at Marion, Ohio. Marion officials outbid all other cities in the Eastern Division to sponsor the tournament there. The winner of the Marion tournament will advance to the National finals at Shawnee, Okla.

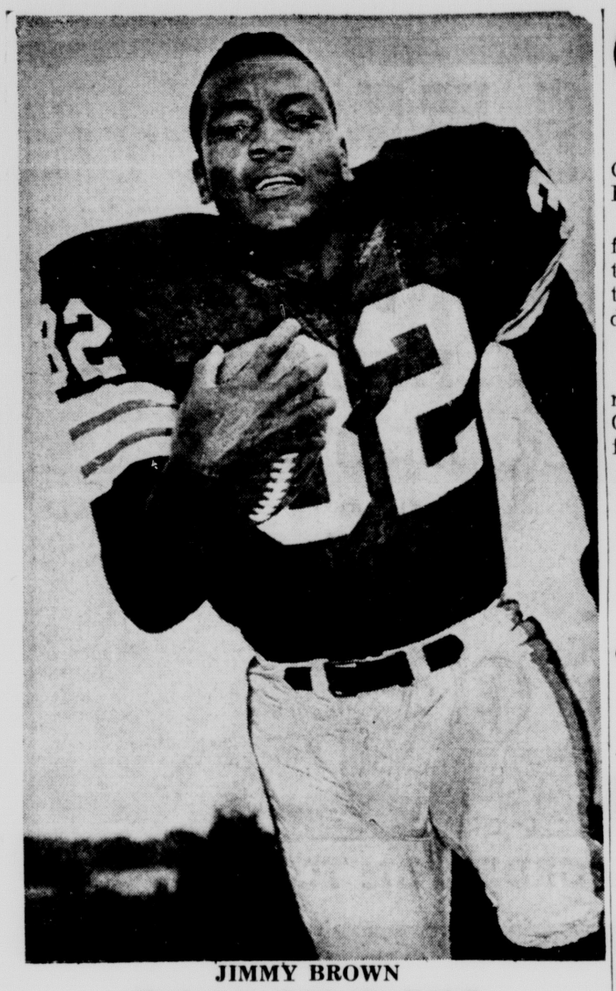
EAST Liverpool played host for the tournament in Divisional play at Charlotte, N. C.

Smith announced that two games would be played on Thursday, Aug. 4, with two games on Friday Aug. 5, three games on Aug. 6 and either one or two games on Sunday.

Glenn Barnet of East Liverpool has been named umpire-in-chief for the tournament.

Fighting Champ Griffith Decisions Archer



JIMMY BROWN
Cleveland Star Quitting Pro Football

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Jim Brown Calls It Quits At Peak Of Grid Career

"I am leaving the Browns with an attitude of friendliness and cooperation," Brown said Wednesday night. "Once I return to Cleveland I'll do everything I can to help the Browns — other than playing."

The Associated Press learned of Brown's plans Wednesday night, as did the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The 30-year-old, 230-pound fullback for Cleveland's National Football League team is in England making a movie. His decision had been hinted for some time.

Owner Art Modell had told Brown he expected the fullback to be in Hiram, Ohio, when the veterans report to Coach Blanton Collier for training this week, and had threatened him with a fine if he did not report. The movie Brown is playing in is not expected to be finished until late September.

"I had intended to play this year," said Brown, who still has a year to go on a reported $60,000-a-year contract. "My original reason for coming back was because Art wanted me to. Then, when it was pointed out by Art my reporting late put the team in an awkward position, my original reason for returning wasn't there any longer.

"Each day I kept hoping I could call Art and give him a date when the picture would be completed. But nobody knew. We still don't know."

"No," Brown said. "This decision is final. I'm no longer preparing mentally for football. I'm committing myself to other things. I'm not going to play again."

In his nine-year pro career the former Syracuse All-American carried the ball 2,359 times and gained a total of 12,312 yards for an average of 5.2 yards per carry. He scored 126 touchdowns, and led the league in ground gaining eight years.

Last year he was voted the league's Most Valuable Player and led the league in rushing with 1,544 yards, averaging 5.3 yards a carry. He scored 21 touchdowns, one more than the old record but one less than the 22 scored by rookie Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears.

Collier was not surprised by Brown's announcement, but the loss has to hurt. He said he was very sorry to lose "the greatest running back in the history of the game," he added:

"After much deliberation I have come to the conclusion I will retire from professional football this season. My original intention was to try and participate in the 1966 National Football League season, but due to circumstances this is impossible.

"My ambition right now is to devote as much time as possible to the national Negro industrial and economic union project which stresses full participation of Negroes in the main stream of the American economy."

'Will Fight Anyone At Right Price'

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "If Joey Archer wants another shot he can have it and so can Dick Tiger," said middleweight champion Emile Griffith today. "I'm a fighting champion and I'll fight anyone if the price is right."

The aggressive, strong 28-year-old Griffith took the middleweight title from Tiger in April and successfully defended it Wednesday night with a majority decision over Archer in a brisk 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Many champions in the past have talked about being fighting champions but few have delivered. You can't fault Griffith on that point. The husky Virgin Islands native has been busier than an air-conditioner salesman during a heat wave.

Griffith has had 14 title fights, 12 as a welterweight and two as a middleweight in five years, three months. His welterweight title record is 10-2.

Judge Artie Aidala, 9-5-1, and judge Al Berl, 8-7, voted for Griffith. Referee Johnny LoBianco called it a 7-7-1 draw, giving each seven runs and seven points. At the end of 12 rounds, Aidala and Berl each had it 8-4 while LoBianco had it 7-4-1, all for Griffith.

The Associated Press had it 9-5-1 for Griffith. The ringside poll favored Griffith 18-5. Most of the scores had Griffith the winner by big margins.

"It came from a butt," said Archer. "He was trying to butt me all night. He kept lunging at me with his head.

"I thought I won. I thought I outboxed him and won on the outside and the inside. I'd like to fight him again."

"He can have it if a promoter comes up with the right price," said Gil Clancy, Griffith's trainer and co-manager. "The same goes for Dick Tiger. Emile ducks no one."

Parsons' Third No-Hitter Gives Potters Minor Title

Danny Parsons turned in his third no - hitter of the Minor League season and with it gained the American Division title for Potters Bank & Trust in a 17-9 victory over Pusateri's Wednesday.

Heffner Released As Reds' Skipper

By JAAN KANGILASKI

CINCINNATI (AP) — Don Heffner has been fired as manager of the Cincinnati Reds and coach Dave Bristol, only 33, has the job today of trying to pull the team into the first division in the National League.

Bristol was named Wednesday as an interim manager to take over the eighth-place Reds for the second half of the season.

Bristol takes over tonight as the Reds face the St. Louis Cardinals in a twi-night doubleheader.

The firing of Heffner followed repeated denials by Cincinnati Owner-General Manager Bill DeWitt that he planned any changes.

As recently as Tuesday night DeWitt was quoted by Lou Smith, sports editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, as saying in St. Louis, "I haven't given it a serious thought" in reply to questions about Heffner's future.

Heffner held a workout for the team Wednesday morning before getting word he had lost his job.

Bristol, a former minor league infielder and manager, is the third man to head the Reds since Fred Hutchinson was stricken with cancer and had to quit as manager late in the 1964 season. Hutchinson died later.

Things have been going wrong with the Reds — the pre-season favorites—ever since the start of the season. First their opening series was rained out—for the first time in decades—and then they lost nine out of 12 games before winning two in a row.

Just before the All-Star Game break, the Reds were in eighth place, 15 games out of the league lead with a record of 37-46.

Even the announcement of Heffner's firing did not come off as planned. DeWitt's plane developed mechanical trouble after leaving St. Louis and his prepared statement was read by Assistant General Manager Phil Seghi.

Ex-Big Red Star Named At Stanton

Dave Murray who starred in basketball and baseball at Steubenville Big Red has been named head basketball coach at Stanton Local High School, Supt. C. P. Henderson announced Wednesday.

A graduate of Ohio State University in 1964, Murray has been teaching and coaching at Harding Junior High School in Steubenville.

He was a standout on Big Red's unbeaten team of 1957 which was upset by East Liverpool in the Section finals.

Murray may coach one other sport at Stanton and will teach elementary physical education and health.

Cleveland Star Quitting Pro Football

Jim Brown Calls It Quits At Peak Of Grid Career

"I am leaving the Browns with an attitude of friendliness and cooperation," Brown said Wednesday night. "Once I return to Cleveland I'll do everything I can to help the Browns — other than playing."

The formal announcement was made today here at a press conference by Metro Goldwyn Mayer film company.

The Associated Press learned of Brown's plans Wednesday night, as did the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The 30-year-old, 230-pound fullback for Cleveland's National Football League team is in England making a movie. His decision had been hinted for some time.

Owner Art Modell had told Brown he expected the fullback to be in Hiram, Ohio, when the veterans report to Coach Blanton Collier for training this week, and had threatened him with a fine if he did not report. The movie Brown is playing in is not expected to be finished until late September.

"I had intended to play this year," said Brown, who still has a year to go on a reported $60,000-a-year contract. "My original reason for coming back was because Art wanted me to. Then, when it was pointed out by Art my reporting late put the team in an awkward position, my original reason for returning wasn't there any longer.

"Each day I kept hoping I could call Art and give him a date when the picture would be completed. But nobody knew. We still don't know."

Will he reconsider, once the picture is finished?

"No," Brown said. "This decision is final. I'm no longer preparing mentally for football. I'm committing myself to other things. I'm not going to play again."

In his nine-year pro career the former Syracuse All-American carried the ball 2,359 times and gained a total of 12,312 yards for an average of 5.2 yards per carry. He scored 126 touchdowns, and led the league in ground gaining eight years.

Last year he was voted the league's Most Valuable Player and led the league in rushing with 1,544 yards, averaging 5.3 yards a carry. He scored 21 touchdowns, one more than the old record but one less than the 22 scored by rookie Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears.

Collier was not surprised by Brown's announcement, but the loss has to hurt. He said he was very sorry to lose "the greatest running back in the history of the game," he added:

"I want to make it clear that this is not a one-man football team. I certainly expect the Browns to be in contention."

"After much deliberation I have come to the conclusion I will retire from professional football this season. My original intention was to try and participate in the 1966 National Football League season, but due to circumstances this is impossible.

"My ambition right now is to devote as much time as possible to the national Negro industrial and economic union project which stresses full participation of Negroes in the main stream of the American economy."

Parsons' Third No-Hitter Gives Potters Minor Title

Danny Parsons turned in his third no - hitter of the Minor League season and with it gained the American Division title for Potters Bank & Trust in a 17-9 victory over Pusateri's Wednesday.

Ex-Big Red Star Named At Stanton

Dave Murray who starred in basketball and baseball at Steubenville Big Red has been named head basketball coach at Stanton Local High School, Supt. C. P. Henderson announced Wednesday.

A graduate of Ohio State University in 1964, Murray has been teaching and coaching at Harding Junior High School in Steubenville.

He was a standout on Big Red's unbeaten team of 1957 which was upset by East Liverpool in the Section finals.

Murray may coach one other sport at Stanton and will teach elementary physical education and health.

An elegant shoe like this had better do more than just loaf
It could get up off its aristocratic hand-stitched toe and go to work. Or even to a party.
The Saddlehorn may be a loafer's delight. But it could be a social or business success. It's got the looks. New styling—very manly, but very refined. A new color—deep brown, with the soft gleam of an heirloom saddle. Even the inside is new: around the heel, a cushion foam lining covered with nylon in vivid blazer stripes.

Reds Change Managers

Major League Teams Back To Chasing Pennants Today

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Its midsummer pause for the All-Star classic ended, major league baseball got back to the business of pennant races today with 11 night games and one new manager.

Dave Bristol was named interim manager of the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, replacing Don Heffner. The Reds, preseason pennant favorites in the National League, ended the first half in eighth place, just two games in front of the New York Mets.

Heffner was the second manager to feel the axe this season. The New York Yankees fired Johnny Keane in May.

The Reds, plagued by a series of rainouts early in the season, lost 13 of their first 17 games and never did straighten out. They ended an 11-game slide with a 2-1 victory in San Francisco Sunday — the last game in which Heffner was to manage them.

And while the Reds changed managers, it looked as if the Giants and Dodgers were ready for an old-fashioned squabble to start the second half of the season.

San Francisco Manager Herman Franks is reportedly angry over the use of his ace pitchers, Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry, by Los Angeles Manager Walt Alston in the All-Star game.

Franks told Harry Jupiter, a sports writer for the San Francisco Examiner, that he had complained to Alston.

"He had eight pitchers," Jupiter quoted Franks. "They're all All-Stars. There's no reason Alston had to use both of mine. That burned me up and I told him so."

Marichal worked three innings and Perry, the winning pitcher, two. Alston also used his own Sandy Koufax for three innings and Jim Bunning of Philadelphia for two.

Alston was quoted by the Examiner as saying, "You have to go according to the game. I would have liked to have held Sandy out. He probably could have used three days rest. Everybody is in the same situation."

The Dodger pilot denied that Franks, who coached first base for the National League stars, mentioned the use of Marichal and Perry.

Under All-Star rules all starters must play at least three innings and pitchers may not be used for more than three innings.

San Francisco opens a three-game series in Philadelphia tonight before moving on to Pittsburgh for what could be the season's first crucial series.

The Pirates are at home to last-place Chicago while the Dodgers send Koufax after his 16th victory against the Mets in New York. In the American League, Baltimore took an impressive eight-game lead into Detroit where the second-place Tigers hoped to make some kind of dent in the bulge.

Cleveland, 11 games back in third place, was at Chicago.

With the Orioles making a shambles of the top of the race, interest in the American League has focused on the also-rans. Last-place Boston has won 9 of its last 10 and was just 1½ games behind the staggering New York Yankees.

Kansas City, under Manager Alvin Dark, has skipped into sixth place and entertains the Yankees tonight. The Red Sox are at California.

Beaver Falls got a step ahead of Post 481 with a 4-3 victory in the first in the best two out of three County League playoff series Wednesday at Crucible Field.

The same two teams will meet today at 6 at Beaver Falls with Midland facing a do-or-die task.

Beaver Falls took advantage of four Midland errors. Ray Hendershot went the distance for Midland and gave up seven hits but was a victim of miscues.

Beaver Falls scored once in the first inning and twice in the third but Midland came roaring back to tie the game with three runs in the last of the third.

Lawrenceville Tops Hanover Nine, 11-8

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians won a 3-1 exhibition game Wednesday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates and scored big with sandlot baseball fans by netting close to $55,000 for the Cleveland Baseball Federation's sandlot program.

Jim Wingate, who was signed by the Indians last week, started for the Tribe and worked five innings. He gave up only one run but left with the score tied 1-1.

The victory went to 19-year-old Gary Boyd, the second of three Indian pitchers used to put down the Pirates.

manager of the Reds," the statement started. "While we feel that Heffner, who is a dedicated baseball man, did a good job, we believe a change at this time is in order . . .

"It is our plan to seek a permanent manager as soon as feasible . . .

"Don has been offered a job to continue in our organization next year, and it is my hope that he will remain with us in some capacity."

Neither Heffner nor Bristol attended the news conference. Bristol was at home in Andrews, N.C., and Heffner reportedly was at his Cincinnati apartment where he kept the telephone off the hook.

Bristol, in Andrews, said he regards the interim job as a "real challenge. I hope I can do a good enough job to make it permanent."

Dentists Top Lawyers 3-2 In 8 Frames

The Dentists broke a 2-2 tie with a run in the bottom of the eighth to edge the Lawyers, 3-2, in the Colt League Wednesday.

"It was supposed to have been for the welterweight title but when the WBA (World Boxing Association) took away Griffith's welterweight title without giving us a hearing it probably killed the fight."

Late support for Archer made the 28-year-old New Yorker 13-10 favorite at fight time. The Archer backers didn't think Griffith could spot the fleet-footed boxer 7½ pounds and be effective. Most of the time however, Archer looked like the welterweight and Griffith the heavier man.

Griffith's record now is 51-7. Archer's record is 46-3 and he still can boast that he's never been floored.

South Side Loop Will Take Boys To Pirate Game

Boys playing in the South Side Hot Stove League Junior and Senior Divisions will be taken to the Pittsburgh - Chicago game Saturday.

All boys and adults supervisors are requested to meet at the Hookstown Grange Hall at 10:45 a.m. to be picked up by buses. Players are not required to wear uniforms but are asked to wear ball caps for the purpose of identification.

USW Local 1212 donated $100 towards the expense of the trip, Dan Wright, league secretary, announced.

The South Side Athletic Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the borough building, James Ashcroft, president, announced.

Reds Change Managers

Major League Teams Back To Chasing Pennants Today

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Its midsummer pause for the All-Star classic ended, major league baseball got back to the business of pennant races today with 11 night games and one new manager.

Dave Bristol was named interim manager of the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, replacing Don Heffner. The Reds, preseason pennant favorites in the National League, ended the first half in eighth place, just two games in front of the New York Mets.

Heffner was the second manager to feel the axe this season. The New York Yankees fired Johnny Keane in May.

The Reds, plagued by a series of rainouts early in the season, lost 13 of their first 17 games and never did straighten out. They ended an 11-game slide with a 2-1 victory in San Francisco Sunday — the last game in which Heffner was to manage them.

And while the Reds changed managers, it looked as if the Giants and Dodgers were ready for an old-fashioned squabble to start the second half of the season.

San Francisco Manager Herman Franks is reportedly angry over the use of his ace pitchers, Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry, by Los Angeles Manager Walt Alston in the All-Star game.

Franks told Harry Jupiter, a sports writer for the San Francisco Examiner, that he had complained to Alston.

"He had eight pitchers," Jupiter quoted Franks. "They're all All-Stars. There's no reason Alston had to use both of mine. That burned me up and I told him so."

Marichal worked three innings and Perry, the winning pitcher, two. Alston also used his own Sandy Koufax for three innings and Jim Bunning of Philadelphia for two.

Alston was quoted by the Examiner as saying, "You have to go according to the game. I would have liked to have held Sandy out. He probably could have used three days rest. Everybody is in the same situation."

The Dodger pilot denied that Franks, who coached first base for the National League stars, mentioned the use of Marichal and Perry.

Under All-Star rules all starters must play at least three innings and pitchers may not be used for more than three innings.

San Francisco opens a three-game series in Philadelphia tonight before moving on to Pittsburgh for what could be the season's first crucial series.

The Pirates are at home to last-place Chicago while the Dodgers send Koufax after his 16th victory against the Mets in New York. In the American League, Baltimore took an impressive eight-game lead into Detroit where the second-place Tigers hoped to make some kind of dent in the bulge.

Cleveland, 11 games back in third place, was at Chicago.

With the Orioles making a shambles of the top of the race, interest in the American League has focused on the also-rans. Last-place Boston has won 9 of its last 10 and was just 1½ games behind the staggering New York Yankees.

Kansas City, under Manager Alvin Dark, has skipped into sixth place and entertains the Yankees tonight. The Red Sox are at California.

Midland Nine Drops Opener To B. Falls.

Beaver Falls got a step ahead of Post 481 with a 4-3 victory in the first in the best two out of three County League playoff series Wednesday at Crucible Field.

The same two teams will meet today at 6 at Beaver Falls with Midland facing a do-or-die task.

Beaver Falls took advantage of four Midland errors. Ray Hendershot went the distance for Midland and gave up seven hits but was a victim of miscues.

Beaver Falls scored once in the first inning and twice in the third but Midland came roaring back to tie the game with three runs in the last of the third.

Lawrenceville Tops Hanover Nine, 11-8

Both teams had 14 hits with Terry Simpson collecting three to lead the winners. Fred Bryan was the winning pitcher.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians won a 3-1 exhibition game Wednesday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates and scored big with sandlot baseball fans by netting close to $55,000 for the Cleveland Baseball Federation's sandlot program.

Jim Wingate, who was signed by the Indians last week, started for the Tribe and worked five innings. He gave up only one run but left with the score tied 1-1.

The victory went to 19-year-old Gary Boyd, the second of three Indian pitchers used to put down the Pirates.

manager of the Reds," the statement started. "While we feel that Heffner, who is a dedicated baseball man, did a good job, we believe a change at this time is in order . . .

"It is our plan to seek a permanent manager as soon as feasible . . .

"Don has been offered a job to continue in our organization next year, and it is my hope that he will remain with us in some capacity."

Neither Heffner nor Bristol attended the news conference. Bristol was at home in Andrews, N.C., and Heffner reportedly was at his Cincinnati apartment where he kept the telephone off the hook.

Bristol, in Andrews, said he regards the interim job as a "real challenge. I hope I can do a good enough job to make it permanent."

Dentists Top Lawyers 3-2 In 8 Frames

The Dentists broke a 2-2 tie with a run in the bottom of the eighth to edge the Lawyers, 3-2, in the Colt League Wednesday.

Jim Duffy was the hero for the Dentists as he drove in the winning run in the eighth with a double to left field. Duffy had two of his team's six hits.

John Ludovici, Dentists first baseman, turned in a fine catch of a fair ball along the right field line.

"It was supposed to have been for the welterweight title but when the WBA (World Boxing Association) took away Griffith's welterweight title without giving us a hearing it probably killed the fight."

Late support for Archer made the 28-year-old New Yorker 13-10 favorite at fight time. The Archer backers didn't think Griffith could spot the fleet-footed boxer 7½ pounds and be effective. Most of the time however, Archer looked like the welterweight and Griffith the heavier man.

Griffith's record now is 51-7. Archer's record is 46-3 and he still can boast that he's never been floored.

Prober Spivak Ducks Questions

Lawrence E. Spivak, the relentless prober of politicos on "Meet the Press," is as evasive as a voter - conscious candidate when questions are fired his way. "I don't want to be put in a position of criticizing the other programs," he said when 'Meet the Press' seems to be the only one of TV's public affairs programs where the guests are thrown hard and penetrating questions.

Hal Humphrey

Modesty on Spivak's part can't hide what most viewers of this type of program already have discovered, namely that the interviewee too often is allowed to take over with speeches instead of answers.

WE TRY to avoid the reaction question," ventured Spivak. "If you ask a man's reaction to something, it allows him all the advantage. A direct, single question is best also. Those two and three - part questions give the subject an opportunity to answer only the part he likes or finds easiest to answer."

Regular viewers of "Meet the Press" are used to watching gleefully as Spivak returns to a question and again tries to pin the guest down to at least some kind of answer. Spivak finds that frequently his viewers are feeling sorrier for the guest than he does for himself.

"A guest can look better on hard questions, if he has something to say," contended Spivak, when asked about his dogged pursuit of an answer.

TO MAKE SURE "Meet the Press" does not fall into the innocuous rut occupied now by, say, "Face the Nation," Spivak chooses his panel of newsmen carefully, making sure they are well informed, responsible and uninhibited.

He misses May Craig, who retired from her long-time Washington correspondent post for the Portland Maine Press-Herald. May always could be counted upon for the single, penetrating questions and the perseverance to obtain an answer.

Asked if, over the years this is the 19th on TV for "Meet the Press" he has worked up a list of newsmen, he avoids inviting for the panel, Spivak laughed and replied, "If I answer that one, I can see the head over your column reading, 'Spivak Has Blacklist of Newsmen,' so I'll pass it."

SPIVAK TOOK one of his rare trips away from Washington last week to cover the Governors Conference in Los Angeles and do two "Meet the Press" sessions from Los Angeles, the first an hour "special" with six governors and last Sunday's with Sen. George Murphy.

Spivak tries to pick guests whose current activities are in the news or, he hopes, about to make news.

In Sen. Murphy's case he was following up the rumor that the junior senator from California soon may be made chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, an enviable party post formerly held by ex-Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Otis Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, was one of the newsmen on the Sen. Murphy panel, an honor which Spivak rarely bestows on publishers. Asked about this, Spivak said simply that Chandler fitted his requisites as a knowledgeable and responsible newsman. If any other publishers in the area felt slighted, they could complain to NBC, which bought "Meet the Press" from Spivak several years ago.

AS HE DOES occasionally, Spivak relinquished his anchor spot on the panel last Sunday to take over the moderator's chair.

"I think the viewers are entitled to some rest," said Spivak to explain this shift. The fact is, however, that when Spivak isn't on the panel firing questions, viewers write in to complain.

What are the man's ambitions after he has confronted many of the world's leading figures with leading questions? Spivak has no trouble answering that one.

"Charles de Gaulle. We'd cancel whomever we had, if he suddenly said yes, and go wherever he wanted us to go," said Spivak fervently.

His next choice is Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, who is asked about every week to appear on "Meet the Press," but his answer, said Spivak, is always, "Maybe later."

Head Of Tugmen Defeats Ouster

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The president of the Licensed Tugmen's & Pilots Protective Association of America won his battle today to continue in office.

The executive board of the Great Lakes District, International Longshoremen's Union rejected a move by Tugmen's Lodge 14 of Lorain-Sandusky, Ohio, to oust Patrick J. Cullnan Jr., also a vice president of the ILA.

The tugmen's group is affiliated with the ILA.

Capt. John W. Degan Jr., a Great Lakes pilot from Lorain, appeared before the executive board at a two-day hearing last week and charged, among other things, that Cullnan's conduct was "detrimental to the welfare of the ILA." Degan is president of lodge 14.

The executive board said a trial committee unanimously rejected 10 charges brought by Degan.

A man-made slate has been developed which is said by its manufacturers to have three times the strength of natural slate but weighing only one-quarter as much.

LEGAL NOTICE
(RC 2703.17)

SHIRLEY KING and EDWARD L. KING, whose places of residence are unknown and cannot be reasonably ascertained, will ke notice that on the 20th day of April, 1966, the plaintiff, THE POTTERS SAVINGS & LOAN COMPANY, filed its petition against them in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, the same being cause No. 51022 in said Court, for the foreclosure of a morigage and sale of certain real estate and in said petition described, to-wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as and being the southeasterly parts of Lots numbers Five Thousand Seventy - five (5075) and Five Thousand Seventy-six (5076), as said Lots are numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of the East Liverpool Land Company's First Addition to said City, and which parts of said Lots are bounded and described by beginning at the Northeast corner of Lot number 5076, at the intersection of the southerly line of Watson Avenue and the westerly line of Orange Alley, and running thence southwesterly along the East line of said Lots and the westerly line of Orange Alley a distance of Seventy - three and eighty hundredths (73.80) feet to the Southeast corner of Lot number 5075; thence northwesterly along the South line of said Lot 5075 for a distance of Twenty-one (21) feet Six (6) inches to a point; thence in a northeasterly direction, on a line parallel with the easterly line of Vine Street, and Eighty-one (81) feet Six (6) inches distant therefrom, to a point in the southerly line of Watson Avenue; thence southeasterly along the southerly line of Watson Avenue for a distance of Twenty-two and eight tenths (22.8) feet, more or less, to the Northweast corner of said Lot 5076 and the place of beginning of the herein described parts of Lots numbers 5075 and 5076.

Said premises are also known as 912 Watson Avenue, East Liverpool, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the foreclosure of a mortgage and sale of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 16th day of July, 1966, or judgment will be taken against them.

ADVERTISING FOR STREET PAVING BIDS

Sealed proposals, properly endorsed for various permanent street improvements as shown by the plans and specifications therefor will be received by the City of New Cumberland, W. Va., at the office of the City Clerk until 7:30 P.M. EDST on the 18th day of July, 1966, when the same shall be opened and publicly read at the Council chambers of the City of New Cumberland, W. Va.

Such proposal shall be addressed to

City of New Cumberland
City Clerk

New Cumberland, West Virginia and shall be properly entitled upon the outside of the transmitting envelope "Bid for Street Paving, City of New Cumberland, West Virginia."

The work for which proposals are invited consists of paving or repaving portions of nine streets in the said city of New Cumberland as more particularly shown upon the plans and specifications therefor. Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the City Clerk, City Building, New Cumberland, W. Va., by paying a deposit of $75.00 which shall be refunded to those who submit a bid for the work and return the plans and specifications in good condition.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a bond or certified check drawn and made payable to the City of New Cumberland, W. Va., in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the total bid, which bond or check shall be returned upon execution of a contract for the work.

No bid may be withdrawn for a period of sixty days.

The City of New Cumberland reserves the right to select the bid it deems most favorable and waive any informalities in the bidding and to reject any or all bids received.

Head Of Tugmen Defeats Ouster

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The president of the Licensed Tugmen's & Pilots Protective Association of America won his battle today to continue in office.

The executive board of the Great Lakes District, International Longshoremen's Union rejected a move by Tugmen's Lodge 14 of Lorain-Sandusky, Ohio, to oust Patrick J. Cullnan Jr., also a vice president of the ILA.

The tugmen's group is affiliated with the ILA.

Capt. John W. Degan Jr., a Great Lakes pilot from Lorain, appeared before the executive board at a two-day hearing last week and charged, among other things, that Cullnan's conduct was "detrimental to the welfare of the ILA." Degan is president of lodge 14.

The executive board said a trial committee unanimously rejected 10 charges brought by Degan.

A man-made slate has been developed which is said by its manufacturers to have three times the strength of natural slate but weighing only one-quarter as much.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miss Israel says she will become a saleslady after the Miss Universe contest in Miami Beach. She will sell Israeli bonds in the United States.

"I have never sold anything before," admitted Aviva Israeli, a Tel Aviv student who speaks five languages and wants to become an interpreter. "But I think I'll do well."

She will spend three months in Los Angeles, she said, then tour the United States.

The 18-year-old beauty won the competition in Cincinnati Wednesday night over 16 other long-limbed lovelies. Treva Foelkers of Milwaukee, 23 and six feet tall, was runnerup.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Angie Dickinson has given birth to a daughter three months prematurely.

The child, born Monday night at Hollywood's Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, is the first for Miss Dickinson, 32, and her husband, Burt Bacharach, 36, composer of "What's New, Pussycat?"

The actress is reported in good condition but there was no word on the baby's weight and condition.

Singer, Deane & Scribner is one of Pennsylvania's largest and most successful investment firms because we invest heavily in people. People are our most important asset. As we grow, we need more good people to grow with us; aggressive, ambitious men who honestly feel their potential is going untapped, their talent is going unrewarded, or their present position is unpromising. Singer, Deane & Scribner is about to invest in careers for several new Registered Representatives to work in our branch offices or our Pittsburgh office. Investment experience is not necessary. An intensive training program is followed by on-the-job guidance and advertising support. Future income and responsibilities are limited only by ability. If an opportunity like this appeals to you, invest a moment of your time to write us in confidence and tell us about yourself, your experience and your ambitions.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miss Israel says she will become a saleslady after the Miss Universe contest in Miami Beach. She will sell Israeli bonds in the United States.

"I have never sold anything before," admitted Aviva Israeli, a Tel Aviv student who speaks five languages and wants to become an interpreter. "But I think I'll do well."

She will spend three months in Los Angeles, she said, then tour the United States.

After that, she's to be drafted into the Israeli army for 20 months.

The 18-year-old beauty won the competition in Cincinnati Wednesday night over 16 other long-limbed lovelies. Treva Foelkers of Milwaukee, 23 and six feet tall, was runnerup.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Angie Dickinson has given birth to a daughter three months prematurely.

The child, born Monday night at Hollywood's Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, is the first for Miss Dickinson, 32, and her husband, Burt Bacharach, 36, composer of "What's New, Pussycat?"

The actress is reported in good condition but there was no word on the baby's weight and condition.

The Central African Republic, an inland country more than 3,000 miles from the sea, consists of 238,000 square miles. It is slightly smaller than Texas.

LET US HELP YOU HELP US

Singer, Deane & Scribner is one of Pennsylvania's largest and most successful investment firms because we invest heavily in people. People are our most important asset. As we grow, we need more good people to grow with us; aggressive, ambitious men who honestly feel their potential is going untapped, their talent is going unrewarded, or their present position is unpromising. Singer, Deane & Scribner is about to invest in careers for several new Registered Representatives to work in our branch offices or our Pittsburgh office. Investment experience is not necessary. An intensive training program is followed by on-the-job guidance and advertising support. Future income and responsibilities are limited only by ability. If an opportunity like this appeals to you, invest a moment of your time to write us in confidence and tell us about yourself, your experience and your ambitions.

Junior Editors Quiz on COCONUT SEEDS

ANSWER: The graceful and beautiful coconut palm tree originally came from Malaya. Today, it is found in a great many of the subtropical and tropical parts of the world. One picture shows coconut palms swaying above the shore of one of the romantic South Sea islands. You can see a cluster of the fruits hanging just below the leaves; a young man is climbing up to harvest them. Botanically speaking, these large fruits are "drupes" meaning a fleshy fruit that has one seed inside, like peaches and plums. But the edible part of the coconut drupe is not the husk or outside part but the round sphere inside, cased in a brown shell. That's the part we call a coconut. Actually, this is the seed of the coconut tree; it contains a small embryo. The milk and the meat inside the coconut seed nourish this embryo during the year it takes to mature, so that it will be able to take root and grow to a new tree. The milk in the coconut makes a refreshing drink. The meat is valuable for food, besides being used in other ways.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: The battle and mystery of the gummy wooden salad bowls has been solved!

Imagine, after all these years!

Lucile Saltvic wrote and said that she had a wooden salad bowl that had become white inside. She took a piece of raw walnut meat and rubbed it all over the bowl, and it took all the white goop off.

I used pecans when I tested this hint, and they did a beautiful job . . . on both bleached wood and dark-stained salad bowls. Just crack the nut and remove the meat. Break the meat in half and use the broken side to rub away.

THIS ALSO helps remove scratches.

I learned, too, that those of you who have beautiful wood-paneled walls with scratches on them, can use this same idea. Just wipe with a soft cloth after rubbing with the nut meat, and that's all there is to it.

Now back to those salad bowls:

Don't forget that it is the oil and vinegar dressing which causes this goop. So if you make your salad ahead of time, leave the dressing until just before serving.

Empty the wooden bowl right after the meal and wash it. This will prevent the white, sticky stuff from forming.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: After I wash and dry my nylon hose, I put on white gloves to sort them.

The gloves make it easy for me to see the hose that have runners and also protects them from snags while sorting.

DEAR HELOISE: One of the easiest ways to keep paint off the light fixtures when repainting a room is to tie or tape paper or plastic bags over each fixture.

While the bag is over the light, turn the light OFF so the bag won't get hot.

LAGYS LeFEBVRE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use the one-half pound margarine tubs for ice cream sundaes.

VERA YEAGER.

DEAR HELOISE: Most people discard the long, narrow thin plastic bags that contain plastic foam cups from picnics.

One of the best uses I have found for them is to hold the used silverware in from your picnic (after you have used the cups).

MRS. RALPH V. GREEN.

DEAR HELOISE: I read the wonderful idea about the whistles for children who might become lost.

We're a camping family, and I'm going to buy each of us a whistle, and come up with a special signal.

My own children will know when they're being called, or can call back to us.

I shall always see that each child has a whistle in his pocket or tied to his belt.

MRS. R. MESSMER.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Most Grandparents Are Too Lenient

Many thousands of children enjoy part or all the summer with their grandparents. This is a great privilege especially when the grandparents or other relatives they visit live on a farm and the children regularly live in crowded places. When you consider having your child vacation with the grandparents, assume that the grandparents will have sole responsibility for his guidance. Hope that they will restrain him properly and require him to share in the home drudgeries. Most grandparents are too lenient in both directions.

Dr. Garry Myers

Consider, moreover, whether taking on your child will be a hardship to the grandparents. Sometimes it is, and all too often the whole younger family move in on the grandparents adding to their financial and physical burdens. When this happens, not only are the grandparents imposed upon but the children are robbed of good character development.

—:—

IF YOU and your children spend some of the summer with the grandparents, you have not only an obligation but an opportunity to give your youngsters good training, as sharing properly in the chores and other work at the guests' home. Some parents do this well. I wish more did so.

There are more opportunities about a farm for the child to learn a great many facts and skills, indoors and outdoors. The younger children have wide open places for fun as have the older ones. There are many chores and jobs children over 6 can do. Each child needs to have a program and be guided and required to work reasonably hard.

There are hazards on the farm, especially to children who have not had long experience there — the farm animals, farm machinery and dangerous places. First of all, these hazards should be labeled for the child by the grandparents who should require his observance of desirable precautions. Children at the farm and neighbor children adapted to these hazards may entice the visiting children into many dangers.

OFTEN THE grandparents find that the visiting children do not practice at sticking to hard work and give up trying to cause them to do so. It takes a vast deal of skill by the grandparents to exercise these grandchildren well in responsibility.

If the grandchild is a teenager, the grandparent may find it hard to restrain him properly in his social activities and to induce him to share in the responsibilities there. Fortunate are the grandchildren living with grandparents who are reasonably strict with them, who also find ways for their children to have ample fun.

My bulletins "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Suggestions to Grandparents' may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: The battle and mystery of the gummy wooden salad bowls has been solved!

Imagine, after all these years!

Lucile Saltvic wrote and said that she had a wooden salad bowl that had become white inside. She took a piece of raw walnut meat and rubbed it all over the bowl, and it took all the white goop off.

I used pecans when I tested this hint, and they did a beautiful job . . . on both bleached wood and dark-stained salad bowls. Just crack the nut and remove the meat. Break the meat in half and use the broken side to rub away.

THIS ALSO helps remove scratches.

I learned, too, that those of you who have beautiful wood-paneled walls with scratches on them, can use this same idea. Just wipe with a soft cloth after rubbing with the nut meat, and that's all there is to it.

Now back to those salad bowls:

Don't forget that it is the oil and vinegar dressing which causes this goop. So if you make your salad ahead of time, leave the dressing until just before serving.

Empty the wooden bowl right after the meal and wash it. This will prevent the white, sticky stuff from forming.

DEAR HELOISE: After I wash and dry my nylon hose, I put on white gloves to sort them.

The gloves make it easy for me to see the hose that have runners and also protects them from snags while sorting.

ROSE HUGHES.

DEAR HELOISE: One of the easiest ways to keep paint off the light fixtures when repainting a room is to tie or tape paper or plastic bags over each fixture.

While the bag is over the light, turn the light OFF so the bag won't get hot.

LAGYS LeFEBVRE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use the one-half pound margarine tubs for ice cream sundaes.

I make several at a time and put them in the freezer after marking the flavor on top of the containers.

VERA YEAGER.

DEAR HELOISE: Most people discard the long, narrow thin plastic bags that contain plastic foam cups from picnics.

One of the best uses I have found for them is to hold the used silverware in from your picnic (after you have used the cups).

MRS. RALPH V. GREEN.

DEAR HELOISE: I read the wonderful idea about the whistles for children who might become lost.

We're a camping family, and I'm going to buy each of us a whistle, and come up with a special signal.

My own children will know when they're being called, or can call back to us.

I shall always see that each child has a whistle in his pocket or tied to his belt.

MRS. R. MESSMER.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Most Grandparents Are Too Lenient

Many thousands of children enjoy part or all the summer with their grandparents. This is a great privilege especially when the grandparents or other relatives they visit live on a farm and the children regularly live in crowded places. When you consider having your child vacation with the grandparents, assume that the grandparents will have sole responsibility for his guidance. Hope that they will restrain him properly and require him to share in the home drudgeries. Most grandparents are too lenient in both directions.

Dr. Garry Myers

Consider, moreover, whether taking on your child will be a hardship to the grandparents. Sometimes it is, and all too often the whole younger family move in on the grandparents adding to their financial and physical burdens. When this happens, not only are the grandparents imposed upon but the children are robbed of good character development.

-:-

IF YOU and your children spend some of the summer with the grandparents, you have not only an obligation but an opportunity to give your youngsters good training, as sharing properly in the chores and other work at the guests' home. Some parents do this well. I wish more did so.

There are more opportunities about a farm for the child to learn a great many facts and skills, indoors and outdoors. The younger children have wide open places for fun as have the older ones. There are many chores and jobs children over 6 can do. Each child needs to have a program and be guided and required to work reasonably hard.

There are hazards on the farm, especially to children who have not had long experience there — the farm animals, farm machinery and dangerous places. First of all, these hazards should be labeled for the child by the grandparents who should require his observance of desirable precautions. Children at the farm and neighbor children adapted to these hazards may entice the visiting children into many dangers.

OFTEN THE grandparents find that the visiting children do not practice at sticking to hard work and give up trying to cause them to do so. It takes a vast deal of skill by the grandparents to exercise these grandchildren well in responsibility.

If the grandchild is a teenager, the grandparent may find it hard to restrain him properly in his social activities and to induce him to share in the responsibilities there. Fortunate are the grandchildren living with grandparents who are reasonably strict with them, who also find ways for their children to have ample fun.

My bulletins "Educating Your Child in Responsibility" and "Suggestions to Grandparents" may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.
